Thanks, Guys.

We'd like to thank all those
Total Home
Automation companies for all our new clients.

Hundreds of times each year, Crescendo is called in to redo what other companies have done. No home automation firm has a more experienced in-house team of manufacturer-certified programmers and installers and 24/7 service technicians – or more exclusive high-end brands – than we do. The difference is in the details: It's a difference you'll see, hear . . . and feel.

Six Ways to Tell Ahead of Time If You're Selecting the Right Landscaper.

1. Will they complete the job within budget? Marders gives you a firm cost, not a +/-10% or so guesstimate.

2. Will they complete the job on time? Our crews are on our payroll and are trained by us. They remain on your site until the job is finished.

3. Do they provide a written guarantee? Marders gives you a 2-year written guarantee for trees and shrubs which we've stood behind for 40 years.

4. Will they get all necessary permits, appear before Town or Village Zoning or review boards, etc.? Do they know local regulations?

5. Will you have to settle for cookie-cutter designs? Most landscapers have a limited variety of trees to sell you. The result is cookie-cutter landscaping. About half of our multi-million dollar inventory is big and/or unusual trees.

6. Will they address drainage and soil health?

GAIN THE EDGE. LOSE THE WEIGHT.

The ORBERA™ Managed Weight Loss System is Here.

Comprehensive 2-Part Program | No drugs, no surgery

In just six months with Orbera™, the average person loses 3.1 times the weight as compared with diet and exercise alone.

You've struggled with weight challenges for years, but bariatric surgery is just too extreme. For those of us who can't seem to lose those pounds, Orbera™ can be the answer.

Dr. Eyad Ali, MD, FACP, FACG is the first gastroenterologist on the east end offering the Orbera™ Managed Weight Loss System – a comprehensive, non-surgical two-part program. As an expert specialist in the digestive system, Dr. Ali is board certified and uniquely qualified to perform the Orbera™ procedure. A durable balloon that assists with portion control is placed endoscopically and with individually tailored support from our team, you'll stay motivated to meet your goals.

Watch out for TICKS

Suffolk is one of the nation's busiest breeding grounds for the ticks that spread Lyme and other serious infectious diseases. They lurk at the ends of tall weeds, grass blades and tree branches, and climb on when you brush against them.

Protect your family. Learn to avoid ticks:

- Stay away from tall weeds, beach grass, shrubs & wooded areas
- Use insect repellent with at least 20% DEET
- Wear long-sleeved clothing and light colors
- Inspect yourself frequently
- Bathe or shower promptly after outdoor exposure

Questions? Call 631-574-TICK (8425)

The Tick-Related Disease Center is a program of Peconic Bay Medical Center, with educational support from Cornell Cooperative Extension of Suffolk County.

Water Mill resident and Today show host Matt Lauer has purchased Strongheart Manor, Richard Gere's North Haven home. The waterfront compound includes multiple buildings, a basketball court and a teahouse, on 6.2 acres. After being listed for $65 million in 2013, the property sold for $36.5 million. Lauer plans to downsize his Hamptons holdings by selling two other properties, but will keep his 40-acre Water Mill estate. See story on page 216.

Billy Joel treated fans to a surprise performance at the Paramount in Huntington last week. In the middle of a concert by Big Shot, a popular tribute band, Joel took to the stage to sing the Beatles' "With a Little Help From My Friends," the Rolling Stones' "Honky Tonk Woman" and his own "You May Be Right." In other Billy Joel news, the Piano Man joined Hamptons regular Gov. Andrew Cuomo and Cuomo's longtime partner, Food Network star Sandra Lee, for a long-distance motorcycle race on Monday. The race was organized to raise awareness of breast cancer, and preceded new legislation that expands women's access to screenings. The ride began at Sunken Meadow Park, traveled through New York City and ended in New Paltz.

East Hampton resident and Hamptons International Film Festival (HIFF) co-chair Alec Baldwin will interview the filmmakers of all three films in the festival's eighth annual SummerDocs series. Baldwin will sit down with directors Jeff Feuerzeig, Ted Braun, R.J. Cutler and David Van Taylor. The film series begins July 9 at Guild Hall in East Hampton.

Tasty change is in the air. As we go to press, Southampton Social Club owner Ian Duke is unveiling his new high-end Mexican restaurant in the former Southampton Publick House space, Union Cantina, with food by chef Scott Kampf. (Read an interview with Kampf on page 196.) Chef and author Arie Pavlou has left his post at the Bridgehampton Inn to open his new pop-up, Bistro Été, with partner Howard Krieger, in the former Robert's restaurant space in Water Mill. "I think if anyone can bring together some of the greatest writers around today on behalf of recognizing new, emerging work and thus 'restock the pond', to the benefit of all, that would be Dan. Dan and Dan's Papers' contributions to the art of writing and the craft of journalism are legendary. This competition is the latest effort in his stewardship of the written word."

"Along with the New York Subway System, Hamptons Subway is the only underground transit system in the State of New York."

DOWN IN THE TUBE

Jack Lenor Larsen was seen on the Hamptons Subway heading from East Hampton to Amagansett, carrying a vase.

CHEWING GUM

Riders at the Southampton Station might have been surprised that the down escalator from the street was out of service last Thursday. Around 2 p.m. a straphanger dropped a piece of used blue chewing gum onto one of the escalator treads. An alert subway manager tried to get it off with his hands before it disappeared into the gears of the escalator at the bottom to go up and around again. But he failed. The manager then got a paint scraper, a screw driver, some yellow police tape and an assistant and returned. He put tape across the top of the escalator so no one would use it, got down on his knees so that when the gum arrived, he could signal the assistant at the bottom to run up and work on the gum as it moved on down, but it still would not come up. This went on for over an hour. Finally, at 3:14 p.m., when the gum again disappeared into the workings at the bottom, the escalator came to a grinding halt. Mechanics were called in, shut the escalator off, opened it up and found that the gum had gotten attached to a rubber wheel and then caught in a metal spring in there. Both would have to be replaced. When that was finally done and the gum removed with a blowtorch, the escalator was started up again, and the crowd cheered.

EARLY PUSHER

This weekend the full crew of "pushers" arrives to herd people onto the trains. These 22 people are college students paid minimum wage to wear boxing gloves, chest protectors and helmets while they work. But last Friday at 10 a.m., a commotion took place on the crowded East Hampton platform that turned out to have been caused by Jessie Harrison, an Antioch senior who mistakenly came to work a week early. Pushing several people around, she made the mistake of pushing a billionaire's wife who will remain nameless, causing her to fall. Her husband sued the subway system for $100 million on Monday, but when told that Jessie's employment had not begun and so the subway could take no responsibility, they sued Jessie. Jessie then threw herself on the mercy of the court saying she had no money and owed $70,000 in college loans, and with that, the plaintiffs withdrew the suit, accepted her apology, and then paid off her loan.

COMMISSIONER ASPINALL'S MESSAGE

I'm confident we will not be experiencing the sorts of problems this 4th of July weekend that we've had in past. Any problems, call me on my private line where I'm staying at Little Dix Bay in Virgin Gorda for the weekend. 🐼

NOT FROM HERE

A local restaurateur was arrested Thursday for misrepresenting items on his restaurant's menu as being "sourced locally." According to Hamptons Police spokesman Larry Hirsch, the claims of local provenance for the restaurant's produce were easily disproven. "He was saying that his corn came from here, his pumpkins came from here, his watermelon came from here, his cauliflower came from here. Now, it doesn't take a rocket surgeon to figure out that that can't be true." Hirsch went on to point out that it's only early July, and that the produce cited by the restaurant owner as being grown locally won't become available locally until later in the summer. "All you have to do is drive around. The corn isn't ready to harvest. C'mon!" Hirsch noted that the Hamptons Police have been stepping up their undercover activities in an ongoing effort to stamp out erroneous claims of locavore credibility. "Chief is a bit of an amateur chef himself," said Hirsch, "and he's a major foodie. He set aside a substantial budget for the high food tabs that our officers are forced to pile up in the line of duty." The restaurateur in question was apparently defiant at his arraignment, claiming to be in possession of receipts for the produce. The judge wasn't hearing it, and remanded the suspect to the Hamptons Jail.

MONTAUK ROYALTY REASSERTS POWER

After surviving a recent attempt to overthrow His benevolent rule and place His Royal Person in prison, last week His Most Royal Highness the Prince of Montauk and Ruler of the Lesser Lands of Napeague and Lazy Point triumphantly returned to His throne. His Most Noble and Puissant Prince vented His righteous fury at His pitiful, abject and undeserving subjects by immediately reasserting His birthright. "I shall talk like an a**hole," He decreed, "and I shall despoil all of the young women. The young men I shall beat at Royal Games such as football. I shall park my Royal Vehicle where I want and there's nothing any of my pathetic subjects can do about it." When Hamptons Police spokesman Larry Hirsch was contacted for a comment, he was uncharacteristically deferential. "As far as we're concerned His Royal Highness the Prince of Montauk, who ruleth in majesty, is the Law. The Hamptons Police serve at His pleasure and exist to carry out His wishes." For the moment, His Majesty is apparently "sleeping one off," and Hirsch reported that the Prince's subjects should try to be quiet and let the Prince rest up. 🐼

A FEW THINGS YOU WON'T FIND IN THE HAMPTONS

Never Happened

The Hamptons Bypass, Riverhead Mountain, Lots More

BY DAN RATTINER

Here is a collection of enormous projects that were proposed for the eastern end of Long Island that would have changed things but failed. For projects proposed after 1960, the response by Dan's Papers is presented. It is the responsibility of newspapers to give editorial opinion. We did.

HAMPTON BYPASS

Around 1980, Governor Hugh Carey proposed that a limited access highway be built through the woods north of the Montauk Highway, linking the Sunrise Highway in Hampton Bays to the Montauk Highway between Amagansett and Montauk. It would have gone through Sebonac, Tuckahoe, Deerfield, Scuttlehole, Freetown, Northwest, Barnes Landing, Cranberry Hole Road and finally, down to merge onto the Montauk Highway in Napeague.

Dan's Papers took a Jeep and camera out and backpacked through the proposed route to photograph the farms, dunes, fields, homes and woods that would be destroyed by the new superhighway. We also suggested that it be constructed to end at the driveway of the summer home of Governor Carey. The plan was abandoned in about 1988.

SHOREHAM NUCLEAR PLANT

Three enormous nuclear power plants were proposed to be built on Long Island on the shore of Long Island Sound in 1972. The two proposed for Jamesport were abandoned before construction began, but the third, at Shoreham, broke ground in 1976 with a $400 million budget, continued to be built in spite of continual and sometimes disruptive protests and demonstrations by East Enders, and, after 10 years of construction, with costs exceeding $6 billion and more to come, it started producing power—but for just two days. After that, its builders agreed to follow Governor Mario Cuomo's order that it be abandoned and torn down. It was abandoned, but never torn down. It still sits, on the shore at Shoreham, empty, with all the nuclear rods removed.

Dan's Papers was ambivalent about this. It was clean energy. On the other hand, it could be dangerous. Was that exaggerated? In the end, we just reported on what happened during this extraordinary time, making tepid suggestions that it should be abandoned. We are not proud of our indecision about this.

THE PORT OF MONTAUK

In 1886, Matthias Baldwin, the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, brought the Long Island Rail Road from Manhattan to Montauk. He had an amazing plan. Until that time, ships arriving with cargo from Europe would tie up and unload in the Port of New York. Ships traveled slowly, and, worse, often had to wait for high tide when they got to the Narrows (where the Verrazano Bridge is today) to keep from scraping the underwater bottom. Trains on Long Island could bring cargo into New York City at high speed. Baldwin had learned that Fort Pond Bay in Montauk was a deep-water port. Freighters could arrive there, offload cargo to railroad boxcars and be taken to Pennsylvania Station in Manhattan. There they would be transferred to other Pennsylvania Railroad trains and distributed all around the country. The Port of New York would be unnecessary. To get ready for this, Baldwin extended the tracks from Bridgehampton to Montauk and made a great terminal and pier there.

The Port of New York strongly opposed this plan and went to war with Baldwin. But then Baldwin, home in Pennsylvania on vacation, was thrown from a carriage pulled by a team of runaway horses and killed. His dream died with him.

RIVERHEAD MOUNTAIN

In 2008, a large European based corporation and other investors bought property in Calverton, planning to build a theme park to rival Disneyworld. There would be racetracks, hotels, restaurants, an artificial lake with boats, convention centers, old European villages and an equestrian center. Its key feature would be a 4,000-foot indoor mountain that would be a year-round ski slope.

Dan's Papers did not oppose this project. We thought it would be great fun. But we also thought it would fail. Well, spend away. The project died without breaking ground following the crash of 2008.

THOMAS EDISON'S IRON FACTORY

In 1885, Thomas Edison came out to Quogue, where he found the sand at the beach covered with a thin coating of black iron filings. Such an occurrence often happens in the Hamptons, often for a few weeks. Edison thought it was always there. As a result, he built a factory on the beach to mine it. This was around 1910. It was on concrete posts on the beach itself. A hole in the bottom of the floor allowed a scraper device to gather up the iron. It didn't last long.

TEARING DOWN MONTAUK LIGHTHOUSE

In 1968, the United States Coast Guard decided to abandon the Montauk Lighthouse and dynamite it to the ground. The light itself would remain, but atop a steel tower 1,000 feet further inland, to be operated by remote control from the Coast Guard station at Star Island, Montauk.

Dan's Papers organized a demonstration at the Lighthouse, where 2,500 people stood in the Lighthouse parking lot at 9 p.m. holding candles, flashlights, lanterns and torches. The Coast Guard defended its plan for a year, a second demonstration was held that second year and after that the Coast Guard rescinded their order.

WESTHAMPTON INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

As air traffic to New York City increased dramatically in the 1960s and 1970s, a plan was put forth to create a fourth world-class airport at Westhampton. It would join Newark, JFK and LaGuardia as major ports of entry to the United States. It never happened.

Dan's Papers thought this might be a good thing. Probably wrongheaded, but at the time—well, you had to be there.

GASIFICATION PLANT

In 2007, with the price of natural gas increasing, the demand for it increasing and production of it tapering off in the United States, a proposal was put forward by a joint venture of TransCanada Corporation and Shell Corporation to put a 1,000-foot-long floating gas liquefaction plant in Long Island Sound just north of Riverhead. Ships with liquid natural gas containers from abroad would tie up at the floating plant, their contents would be heated into gas and piped into underwater lines to Long Island and Connecticut.

Dan's Papers responded by writing of an imaginary "ribbon cutting" aboard the plant at which an enormous 30-foot-long eel from Ecuador rams into it and sinks it. Governor Pataki didn't like it either and refused his permission for its construction. It never was built, and a good thing, too. Demand declined, fracking produced much more gas in America and oil and gas prices plummeted.

THE HAMPTONS SUBWAY

In 1920, a New York City builder named Ivan Kratz got the contract to build the Lexington Avenue subway line in Manhattan. Ordering double the amount of material he needed and billing it all to the city, he found himself the object of a criminal investigation, and so, to get rid of the goods, took the overage out to the end of eastern Long Island and secretly built an underground 17-stop subway system in the Hamptons. He planned to open it later but things went bad for him in the city, and he never did. He also never told anyone he'd built it. In 2009, federal employees digging down to remove toxic material from a Superfund site in Sag Harbor discovered the roof of the Sag Harbor stop. The whole system was then re-discovered, restored and is in business today. Its newsletter is published in Dan's Papers.

GEORGICA POND CAUSEWAY

In the late 1980s, when more and more people began to come out to the Hamptons, traffic began to build up on the Montauk Highway between Bridgehampton and (Continued on page 120)

Trump Think

Here's How to Stop Mass Shootings in America

BY DAN RATTINER

The people who commit mass murders in America seem to fall into one of three categories. There are people with serious mental illnesses, people who have uncontrollable anger problems, and there are radical Islamist extremists. It's difficult to try to find and round up people with one of these disorders before a crime is committed. (The most recent shooter seems to have had all three.)

But the fact is that all these people have one other attribute in common that has so far been completely overlooked. By preventing the people with this attribute from arming themselves, we will solve shootings in America. I will also note that by doing this, there will be a need for all women to carry firearms.

The attribute of the shooters—with the very rare exception immediately recognizable as the Bonnie and Clyde Syndrome—is that they are all men.

I ask myself, what would Trump do?

Disarm the men.

Arm the women.

The reason we will need to arm women, as some guns-rights enthusiasts have pointed out, is that you need to have citizens on the scene who can fire back at a shooter who starts up. Duck and cover, take off the safety and fire.

Fact is, however, that although there have been numerous cases where armed men have been present when a shooter arrives, to the best of my knowledge there has never been a case where such a tactic has been put into play. My guess is that it has to do with fear and surprise. Nevertheless, it is obvious that if someone other than the shooter on the scene were armed, it would be a situation that could save many lives.

Since women have almost no history of becoming lone shooters, each should be required to carry a little Derringer .22 pistol. These pistols are lightweight, usually have a mother-of-pearl handle, and when loaded can fire two shots. They have safety catches. And they are small enough to be put in a purse.

When a shooter appears at a mass gathering, women could, en masse, crouch, aim, fire and bring him down. A first shot might miss, but a second would not. And there would be the others firing as well. Women, the salt of the earth, would be the protectors from shooters.

There are other reasons a woman might carry a small weapon like this. I don't have to tell you what they are.

This has to be mandatory to work. Some people have long thought that women might shrink from carrying a weapon, even a tiny one such as a Derringer. They are the softer creatures among us, these people say, the gentle, peaceable creatures, But if it were mandatory—specifically I was thinking about how the healthcare law works, where if you don't do it you are assessed a fine—I suspect women would realize the importance of this. They could form action groups, committees, hold fundraisers, make speeches and conduct forums, and most important, they could undergo training.

A woman would need to be trained on how to use the Derringer and then pass a government test about its use before buying one. Then they'd have to buy one.

This works for everyone, except the shooter. It works for men, women and children, the defenders of America's rights to bear arms, the gun industry—which, although suddenly unable to sell rifles, pistols or submachine guns to men, would have to manufacture new Derringers for the more than 160,000,000 million women in America. Women would be empowered (I am thinking of the glass ceiling), the threat from dangerous men would be curtailed, and many, many, many lives would be saved.

If you want to see women firing guns with know-how, go to this story at DansPapers.com and watch for yourself. 🐺

East Hampton on Friday and Sundays. The choke point was at the headwaters of Georgica Pond, where the highway became a single lane and there were no possibilities of taking backroads. A proposal at that time was made to build a pontoon bridge causeway across the center of Georgica Pond from Wainscott to Lily Pond Lane to bypass this bottleneck. This would have compromised the peace and quiet of the homes of the captains of industry, and so its announcement did not go over well.

Dan's thought this plan up. It didn't fly.

PARR MEADOWS

Five years after the Long Island Expressway was extended all the way out to Riverhead in 1972, a wealthy shopping center developer named Ronald Parr developed and opened an enormous Churchill Downs-style racetrack for trotters with a grandstand, clubhouse and restaurant that seated 25,000. It operated for less than one season. Then it closed and went out of business. Many people went there, including this reporter. Hmmm.

Dan's Papers thought it a good thing to bring horserace gambling to the East End, as long as it wasn't on the South Fork.

THE VILLAGE OF PINE VALLEY

A peaceful residential area in the northwest corner of Southampton Township voted back in 1987 to incorporate itself as the Village of Pine Valley. It soon became apparent that the village backers had commercial interests in creating such a village, and the various trustees met every week to discuss the plan, each week getting louder, angrier and more divisive. When, after a hike in taxes, the discussions descended into throwing things and fistfights, a motion was put in front of the citizens to disband the village, and it was so voted. Today, Pine Valley no longer exists. It has returned to being an unincorporated part of Southampton Village. By the way, the Village of Pine Valley included the Riverhead jail, which happens, if you didn't know, to be on the Southampton side of the border with Riverhead.

Dan's Papers reported on this with a sense of wonder and amazement.

THE DUNE ROAD JETTY FIELD

In the 1960s, Suffolk County authorized the Army Corps of Engineers to build a series of rock jetties every quarter-mile along the ocean beach from Quogue to the inlet at Moriches to stop erosion. There were to be 23 of them and they began to be built, one at a time, from east to west. With half of them in, the local residents began to protest against this project, saying it was wrong to use taxpayer money to help the rich waterfront homeowners. The County ordered the project halted with only half the jetties built.

As a result, sand backed up in the built jetties and none got past the last one, which was just west of Westhampton Beach. All along the beach for those last two miles, nearly 200 private beachfront homes fell into the sea beginning around 1990. The Army Corps of Engineers came back and tapered the last three jetties to help alleviate the problem, built up the beachfront all the way to the Moriches Inlet and cooperated in the emergence of the Village of West Hampton Dunes, which is there today. New homes occupy all that area. The Army Corps keeps watch over those homes now.

Dan's Papers joined in protesting the taxpayers subsidizing the rich. We never anticipated the catastrophe that would follow. Nobody did.

THE CITY OF MONTAUK

In 1925, a Florida developer named Carl Fisher bought all of Montauk (except for the Lighthouse) and developed the whole peninsula as a summer resort he called Montauk Beach. Constructing in the Old English half-timber style, he built the Montauk Manor, a polo field, a sports car racetrack, a golf course, a beach club, a yacht club, and an indoor glass-enclosed tennis court complex. He dynamited a jetty entrance to Lake Montauk, relocated a fishing village, built Shepherd's Neck and laid out the entire downtown with a grid of roads and sidewalks (painted pink.) He also built the seven-story-tall skyscraper in the center of town, which was supposed to be the first of many more. He went under with the Crash of '29 and had to abandon the project, but much of what he built remains today.

ORIENT TO NEW LONDON BRIDGE

Robert Moses, still active in the mid 1960s, proposed this, with the Long Island Expressway extended all the way to Orient on Long Island to get to it. Never happened. 🐼

Woeful Brexit

Why Decide Something This Complex by Popular Vote?

BY DAN RATTINER

So here's some of the fallout of Britain leaving the European Union (EU). Scotland may secede from England and stay in the EU. Northern Ireland may secede and stay in the EU. The Spanish could overrun Gibraltar. As for Great Britain, it seems it will now become Mini Britain and fall into a steep decline.

The whole thing reminds me of what happened 10 years ago when the five eastern towns of Long Island—Southampton, East Hampton, Riverhead, Shelter Island and Southold—tried to cut away from Suffolk County to create Peconic County.

This was a very serious business. Because of one person, one vote, the five eastern towns had only two members in the Suffolk County Legislature. The more populated six western towns had 17. Basically, Western Suffolk had its way with Eastern Suffolk. (Suffolk pays out far less money to the East End than the East End pays in.)

Those of us wishing to break away followed all the rules. We got a charter, we got tacit approval from the state to proceed. The support in the five eastern towns was overwhelming. Petitions were signed and sent to Albany. All that was needed was the state providing a specific procedure for the East End to hold a vote, which we would win in a landslide. It never happened. A single individual, Sheldon Silver, the now disgraced but at that time powerful Speaker of the State Assembly, refused to let the bill out of committee. Ever.

I'm told the referendum to leave the European Union was entirely the fault of the British Prime Minister John Cameron, who, squabbling with his Conservative party, agreed to hold a referendum in exchange for his party's dropping their objection to some minor legislation he wanted passed. He was just so sure the country would stay in the EU. Then, in the run-up to the referendum, suddenly discovering it was going to be very, very close, he announced that the decision, whatever it was, would be final. There would never be another referendum. This would be it. Many felt he said these things in an attempt to scare the populace into voting to stay.

All this raises the issue of whether or not the people, in a democracy, know what's good for them. On simple issues, it's easy. Vote for this one or that one. Listen to what they say. Decide who you think would be better.

But where you have a complex economic situation such as the European Union, is it really reasonable to expect the general public to even be able to assess what is going on?

In America, we vote particular individuals to represent us in the Senate or Assembly. It is they who decide complex things yay or nay, with a further review and signing into law by a President. If after a while we don't like what they've done, we vote them out.

In a way, that is what Sheldon Silver did regarding Peconic County. He assessed it. He blocked it. We definitely didn't like it. It was the end. But that doesn't mean we can't bring it up again.

Who cares if Prime Minister Cameron said there would never be another referendum? He is now resigning in disgrace. Someone new will now be elected Prime Minister—not by the people but by a vote of members of Parliament. There is nothing to prevent the new Prime Minister from getting up and saying, Well, Mr. Cameron said it wouldn't be brought up again, but that's not what I say. We are bringing it up again. Look at this mess. Or, alternately, he could say that the law requires that members of Parliament vote the exit. And we will not be bringing that up. (Shades of Mr. Silver.)

I mean, you get 100 Englishmen in a room and 52 say we exit the EU and 48 say we stay. Sounds like a big extended family at a dinner where at the end everyone agrees to disagree.

Well, that might happen in America. But not in Britain. Britain is Britain. They have tea. Then Parliament votes to leave the European Union because the public voted for that.

In America, if one section wishes to leave, which it said it did in 1861, we go to war and force the country to stay together. That's why Lincoln is on Mt. Rushmore. 🇺🇸

Dan's 16 Insider Tips for Literary Glory and Maybe $5,000!

BY DAN RATTINER

For those of you thinking about entering the Dan's Papers $10,000 Literary Prizes for Nonfiction for 2016, please allow me to offer 16 writing tips to get you started, or get you to the finish line.

1. If you write using quill and inkwell, do not allow thirsty cats into the room.

2. Always know beforehand how a story will begin, progress through the middle and come to an end. Write the beginning, write the middle and, if it takes a strange turn, go with it. It will figure out its own ending.

3. The rules for the Dan's Literary Contest are that the essay must be between 600 and 1,500 words. If you are struggling and failing to get it to go over 600, keep going until you do. If you get to 1,499 words, stop.

4. Let your first sentence grab the reader, tie his hands behind him, throw a bag over his head, throw him in the trunk and drive off.

5. If you want to write something really nasty about somebody, walk around the block before sitting down to write. If you still feel you want to get nasty, do it, but change his name.

6. If you write a poison pen letter, don't lick the tip.

7. To overcome writer's block, whisper "I think I can I think I can I think I can" until it either goes away or you hear a train whistle.

8. If you require complete silence in the place where you write, always keep a bowl of raw eggs near at hand to throw at people who come by.

9. Never write while driving, having sex, talking on the phone, running, eating, drinking, taking a bath or sleeping.

10. If you write old-school on a typewriter while sitting in a club chair by a fire, resist the temptation of throwing a disappointing manuscript into the fire before you make a copy of it.

11. If you write on a lawn chair at the beach, be sure to have a clear plastic cover on your keyboard.

12. If you write about a robber, be sure to include the word "heist" somewhere.

13. If you write about a celebrity, always use phrases such as "made an appearance" or "was spotted."

14. If you think of a word that is important, write it in capital letters. If you think of a word that is to be a secret, type it in italics. If you think of the name of someone important, put it in capital letters. The names of people who are short go all in lowercase letters.

15. If you write on the Hampton Jitney, set your typeface large so the person next to you can read it out of the corner of his eye.

16. Never plagiarize. Don't even write down this rule without changing it around a bit. 🐾

The 5th Annual Dan's Papers Literary Prize for Nonfiction celebrates the deep connection between writers and the East End of Long Island, with prizes totaling $10,000. The Dan's Papers $6,000 Literary Prize for Nonfiction is open to writers of all ages. The Dan's Papers $4,000 Emerging Young Writers Prize for Nonfiction is open to writers age 25 years and younger. All entries must be an original work of nonfiction between 600 and 1,500 words, and must make references to the East End of Long Island in a meaningful way. Poetry is not accepted. Entries are accepted now through August 12, 2016. View complete rules at DansLitPrize.com

Winners will be announced at a ceremony at Guild Hall's John Drew Theater in East Hampton on Thursday, September 1. Major funding is provided by Barnes & Noble. Sponsorships are provided by Bridgehampton National Bank, Ben Krupinski Builders and Montauk Rumrunners. Support for the Emerging Young Writers Prize is provided by Alec Baldwin.

Visit DansLitPrize.com for rules and to enter the Dan's Papers $6,000 Literary Prize for Nonfiction or the Dan's Papers $4,000 Emerging Young Writers Prize for Nonfiction.

On July 2 Mark Borghi Fine Art in Bridgehampton opens Stanley Casselman: Recent Works. Casselman, an abstract artist, is known for his colorful large scale paintings.

Moving on: After calling it home for 18 years, Christie Brinkley is selling Tower Hill, her Bridgehampton estate. Built in 1891, the home offers stunning views, a 50-foot observation tower, a guesthouse and a conservatory on 20 acres. It's listed for $29.5 million. Christie Brinkley Hilary Knight, illustrator of the beloved Eloise books, is selling his South Fork home. The 2,300-square-foot house has three bedrooms, three bathrooms—and a painted mural of Eloise as a monkey. It's currently listed for $1.1 million. See story on page 216.

Local artist Scott Bludorn was commissioned by Montauk Rumrunners to create a cool map of the old rumrunning routes around Montauk. You can see it on the company's Facebook page. Bludorn has been creating original labels and packaging designs for Greenport Harbor Brewing Co.'s beer bottles since last year. What's next? His work being shown at the Parrish? Oh no, he's already done that, too!

Experience live classical music performed by world-class musicians at the Perlman Music Program's Faculty Concert on July 1 at 7:30 p.m. on Shelter Island. Performers include Itzhak Perlman, Rachel Calin, Ron Leonard, and Catherine Cho. The concert is free and seats will fill up quickly—so head over early to grab a space under the performance tent or bring a beach chair and spread out on the lawn.

Last Sunday, composer and pianist Dr. Daniel Koontz and flutist Allison O'Reilly gave a very well-received recital in Sag Harbor's Christ Episcopal Church. In addition to Handel and Prokofiev, an original "Koontz" sonatina received its world premiere. The concert honored the recently deceased Sag Harbor music patron JoAnne Williams Carter. Many of her family members attended, including her daughter Janine Carter, brother E. T. (Continued on page 128)

Giving Back to the Two Forks with Dan's Taste of Summer

BY WALLACE FIGG

Dan's Taste of Summer is all about celebrating the best of the East End, and among the best aspects of life on the North and South Forks are the myriad charitable groups that dedicate themselves to improving life for countless local residents. And once again, Dan's Taste of Summer events will help support a number of these nonprofits—AFTEE (All for the East End), The Retreat, The Montauk Playhouse, the Long Island Farm Bureau and HRH Care, all of which will be profiled in the coming weeks.

Our longest-running charity partner, AFTEE, will once again be a beneficiary of both Dan's GrillHampton on July 22 and Dan's Taste of Two Forks on July 23. A portion of proceeds from both events will go to support this 501(c)(3) charitable organization that aids the efforts of other not-for-profit organizations (NPOs) in the five East End towns.

AFTEE unites and supports NPOs of Riverhead, Southampton, Southold, Shelter Island and East Hampton, raising awareness of their role on the East End. It was created by Myron Levine in 2012 with the vision of showcasing and supporting the charity, culture and service that NPOs provide, inspiring fellowship among those organizations around a common purpose. Through an annual grant process overseen by the Long Island Community Foundation with input from the AFTEE Advisory Committee, which includes representation from each of the five East End towns, proposals are reviewed and approved to support projects and programs in the fields of health and welfare, the environment, arts and culture, education, youth development and animal welfare. In 2015, grants were awarded to the following for a range of projects:

East Hampton: Animal Rescue Fund of the Hamptons (for a program that provides a safe haven for pets whose owners are in a period of crisis or difficulty); Eleanor Whitmore Early Childhood Center (to integrate science, technology, engineering, and math—STEM—into a summer program for children between the ages of 3 and 5); Food Pantry Farm (to hire interns to assist with childrens' programming and field visits to the farm); Inspirational Triathlon Racing International (for a series of hands-on family nutrition workshops) and The Retreat (to provide career guidance and financial education to survivors of domestic violence).

Riverhead: East End Arts & Humanities Council (for the creation of promotional materials to engage the Spanish-speaking Riverside community in the JumpstART program); East End Disability Associates (for acting classes for children with intellectual and developmental disabilities); Hallockville Museum Farm (to provide summer camp scholarships to children from families in Riverhead's Latino community); Open Arms Care Center (to replenish the emergency food pantry stock); and the Peconic Community Council (to provide overnight supervision at a homeless shelter).

Shelter Island: The Shelter Island Historical Society (to expand an Oral History program for students) and Sylvester Manor Educational Farm (for costs associated with designing and installing interpretative and informational signs throughout the farm).

Southampton: Children's Museum of the East End (to host a series of family-centered art programs at four East End community organizations); East End Hospice (to add a music therapy component to a one-week bereavement summer program for children and teens); Lucia's Angels (to provide non-medical supportive services for women diagnosed with late stage women's cancers); Sag Harbor Community Food Pantry (to purchase fresh fruit and vegetables to supplement the pantry's food stock); and the Shinnecock Nation Cultural Center & Museum (to include community members in the restoration of Wikun Village and promote cultural awareness and stewardship).

Southold: Community Action Southold Town, Inc. (for the purchase of new books and toys for the Parent-Child Home program year); Group for the East End (to organize three East End coastal cleanup projects); and the Family Service League (to continue to provide mental health screenings and non-clinical interventions for elementary school children).

Dan's GrillHampton Host Adam Richman Is Fired Up!

BY LEE MEYER

Adam Richman, host of the Travel Channel's Man v. Food and Secret Eats with Adam Richman, will be heating things up at GrillHampton on July 22 at Fairview Farm in Bridgehampton, where 16 top chefs will take sides as Team Hamptons competes against Team NYC in the one-of-a-kind cooking competition and tasting event. Enjoy the expertly grilled fare, beer and specialty cocktails, then be part of the action as you, and a judging panel of A-list palates, cast votes for the finest food of the night.

Richman tells us, "This will sound like a joke—especially because I'm a native New Yorker—I've never had the chance to experience the Hamptons during the summer. I know that it's a rite of passage as a New Yorker, and I have many friends that go out to the Hamptons regularly. I'm excited to find out what the buzz is about firsthand."

What are you most looking forward to about this year's GrillHampton?

It's a chance to work with Pat LaFrieda. That guy is a class act in all that he does. I love him and would go to the ends of the earth to collaborate with him. He and I put together a great food event for veterans a few years back and we make a great partnership.

Adam Richman is the host of GrillHampton on July 22.

GrillHampton is a grill-off between Team Hamptons and Team NYC. Who's going to win, and why?

You're trying to get me in big trouble! To be truthful, I haven't had a chance to experience all the culinary awesomeness that the Hamptons has to deliver. Of course, being a Brooklyn kid, I'm naturally going to be biased towards the Big Apple. I think it's best to go out there with an open mind and let the food speak for itself.

What advice can you give Team Hamptons and Team NYC as they head to the competition?

Be original, be creative, but never at the expense of flavor. Just because it seems like a great idea to add something, or 13 different somethings, doesn't mean it will make for the best final product. Creativity for creativity's sake can kill a good recipe—even something as simple as a hamburger. No matter how creative I've seen competitors get, the winners always have solid fundamentals: meat is cooked to the perfect temperature, sauces deliver the right amount of punch, starches, veggies and proteins all work together. Everything comes together perfectly in the best dish, whether it's a simple plate of barbecue or a plate I judged on Iron Chef.

What was the toughest Man v. Food challenge you've endured?

To be truthful, they all sucked. In different ways, I grant you. But every food challenge was a challenge for a reason. The one spicy one that I lost, which we later found out was largely caused by the owner cheating (he had forgotten that his microphone was still on, and he said "Let's double the amount of ghost chili extract in the recipe to really get him!"), was awful.

You have a degree in acting from the Yale School of Drama. How has that informed your cooking and hosting?

In terms of cooking, I think most graduate students would agree that you learn to make do with very little and you have to learn to stretch ingredients very far. As for hosting, it's been incredibly helpful and impactful. Knowing how to push narrative, breath support and hit ideas and key phrases both on camera and voiceover, as well as basic on-camera comportment, getting sound bites with an eye towards editing and post-production, and having a real on-camera awareness have all been offshoots of my training as a performer at Yale. Every segment has to be a story, even if that story's only about a sandwich.

Forty Chefs, 40 Dishes, 1 Great Night at Taste of Two Forks

Panko Crusted Lobster. Chilled Yasai Ramen. BBQ Pulled Pork Sliders. Local Heirloom Tomato & Watermelon Salad with Ricotta Salata. Crab Cake with Dijon Aioli. Sliced Filet of Beef on Crostini with Horseradish Mayo & Brussels Sprout Slaw.

Wait, we're getting ahead of ourselves...

Celebrating six years as the can't-miss Hamptons event of the summer, Dan's Taste of Two Forks Presented by Farrell Building is all about reveling in the best the East End has to offer: 40 of the premier chefs and restaurants from the Hamptons and the North Fork, the best local ingredients from land and sea, the finest wine and spirits from Long Island and beyond, and a superlative location on the water in Bridgehampton. Hamptonite and Iron Chef Alex Guarnaschelli will host this year's festivities on Saturday, July 23 (and 100 lucky VIPs will get a copy of her new cookbook Old-School Comfort Food signed during a meet-and-greet with the Chopped judge herself!), live music will fill the air, and an unforgettable evening will be had by all.

And now for the food.

Nowhere else on the East End—or on earth, for the matter—can you dine at 40 of the top restaurants from the Hamptons and North Fork in one night, meet the chefs and sample their spectacular dishes (along with delightful libations) while overlooking the waters of Mecox Bay. Have we whet your appetite enough? Here's a sneak peak at just some of the special dishes on the menu at Taste of Two Forks 2016 from some of the most celebrated chefs anywhere.

Sandra Bernhard Takes Guild Hall July 8. Are You Ready?

BY EMILY SMITH GILBERT

We live in exciting times. Sandra Bernhard describes Hillary Clinton becoming the presumptive Democratic nominee for president as “a beautiful confluence of all the things I dreamt of growing up. It’s the culmination of the evolution of being a woman and the feminist movement.”

Bernhard is known for her biting criticism of everything from celebrity culture to politics, though she’s got nothing but love for Clinton. Her latest show, Feel the Bernhard (of which the title is more of a play on Bernhard’s surname than a comment on Bernie Sanders), “is so much more than politics. It’s anecdotal, it charts my journey every year. I curate the best of what I’ve gone through, observed and experienced. Woven into the show is music that’s evocative and reflective, and the whole thing becomes the latest road mark of where I’m at and where I’m going with my life.”

Longtime fans and those in search of intellectual entertainment will have a chance to see Bernhard perform at Guild Hall in East Hampton on July 8. “Performing at a place like Guild Hall is the ultimate summer experience. Getting to do what I do in that setting—it’s very intimate, you know? Out here, it’s people’s second home. It’s a groovy experience,” she says.

Born in Flint, Michigan, and relocated to Scottsdale, Arizona, for much of her youth, Bernhard hit the LA comedy scene in the late 1970s. She was cast on The Richard Pryor Show and then got her big break in the 1983 Martin Scorsese film The King of Comedy alongside Robert De Niro and Jerry Lewis.

Since then, Bernhard has played one of the first openly gay characters on prime time in the role of Nancy Bartlett on the sitcom Roseanne. She’s written (and performed in) award-winning shows such as I’m Your Woman and Without You I’m Nothing; has recorded numerous studio albums including Excuses for Bad Behavior (Part One) and I’m Still Here...Dammit!; not to mention authoring three books and making frequent appearances on The Late Show with David Letterman. Over the course of her career she’s acted in countless films and TV series, most recently appearing in Brooklyn Nine-Nine and 2 Broke Girls.

Bernhard now hosts her own daily radio show, Sandyland, on SiriusXM. “I’ve done it for the past year, now, taken the subway to work every day. It’s been an interesting meditation on what it means to be a New Yorker in a totally different way than I’ve ever experienced it. I’ve never had a day job, per se, so seeing how people move around the city, negotiate it—it’s been fascinating for me to just people-watch and make mental notes.”

On her radio show, Bernhard says, “At least one or twice a week I like to remind people about the water crisis in Flint. The only solution is for the governor to release funds—we can’t just keep sending bottles of water and making promises. The pipes need to be replaced. It should have gotten started the minute the news surfaced.”

One thing Bernhard doesn’t do is dwell on the past. “Life moves so quickly. Prince died and Prince was a huge influence on me. It’s like waves—they bring all sorts of different things when they crash on the shore, but nothing sticks around for long. That’s the news cycle. If you don’t grab the proverbial seashell it’ll be gone.”

What else will she get up to while in the Hamptons?

“What’s better than taking a walk on a gorgeous beach? I love to barbeque. I’m not really the sitting around kind of person,” she laughs. “We’ll go to Round Swamp. I love the farm-to-table movement.

Sandra Bernhard

And there’s nothing like a good pie, blueberry or peach. I don’t embrace the social life out here, or go into town. I want to be away from people, so when you have generous friends like I do, you come out here and stay with them. Our dogs are best friends.”

Sandra Bernhard will perform Feel the Bernhard at Guild Hall on Friday, July 8, at 8 p.m. For more information call 631-324-2722 or go to guildhall.org.

Sometimes
Call You...

Unreasonable?

Sounds Like You're Our Kind of Customer!

At Flanders, we get it – and You.

You see, in our experience Unreasonable usually means you want things done exactly right – not just “good enough”. And we respect that because, for over 60 years here on the East End, that's been our approach, too.

We don't cut corners, and we don't play games.

So whether you need a simple ductless system, or a full LEED compliant whole-home design and installation, if you want it done once and done right, we're the ones to call.

Why? Because when it comes to creating and maintaining your home environment just the way you want it, we think asking for perfection is actually, well, pretty Reasonable.

Let the good times roll with reggae band The Thunderballs at Southampton Arts Center's outdoor concert series kicking off this Saturday, July 2. Lead singer/songwriter NL Dennis is a staple of the Western Jamaican music scene and has been compared to reggae icons Jimmy Cliff and Toots Hibbert. Dennis is backed by a top-notch ensemble of musicians including Joel and Peter Eisenkramer on bass and keyboard, respectively. So bring your blankets, picnics and chairs and get grooving!

Who said the beach isn't a catwalk? On July 8, celebrate the launch of the Nicole Miller La Plage collection at her pop-up shop at The Surf Lodge in Montauk. La Plage features one-piece swimsuits, crop tops, leggings, maxi dresses and more.

On June 17 and 18, designers Jonathan Adler and Simon Doonan were Honorary Chairman for the Madoo Conservancy's Sixth Annual Much Ado About Madoo event in Sagaponack. The popular event celebrated 50 years of organic gardening.

Mattituck singer/songwriter Miles East (aka John Ellinghaus) has just released his debut solo album, Ghosts of Hope. East, a multi-instrumentalist, has spent more than a decade as one of New York City's A-list studio musicians and elite drummers, recording with artists as varied as Leslie Gore and even the CBS Orchestra. Songwriting Magazine describes East's sound as "Yearning Americana... Comparisons for this one include Dawes, Jason Isabell and Ray LaMontagne." Hmmm...could be the perfect summer soundtrack?

Southampton doctors Kenneth Mark (cosmetic dermatologist and Mohs skin cancer surgeon), John Anton (plastic surgeon) and Peter Michalos (ophthamologist and oculoplastic surgeon) have all been named Best Doctors for 2016-2017 by bestdoctors.com. This prestigious designation is only given to the top 5% of physicians in the country, and the recipients are chosen by their peers. Congratulations!

The Peter Marcelle Project in Southampton has a fantastic lineup of artists and events this summer. Paintings by Claudia Aronow are on display through July 3, followed by the exhibition Scallop Pond with work by Brian Rutenberg from July 9-17, with an opening reception on July 9. The Peter Marcelle Project is also participating in Market Art + Design at the Bridgehampton Museum from July 7-10, as well as ArtSouthampton at Nova's Ark, also in Bridgehampton, from July 7-11. Later in the summer, catch Masters of American Realism, curated by Peter Marcelle Project and featuring works by Andrew Wyther, Alyssa Monks and John Koch, among others, at the Sag Harbor Whaling Museum with an opening reception on July 22.

Summer fun is happening at the Southampton Arts Center with Water/Bodies, an exhibition curated by Hamptons resident Eric Fischl and David Kratz, running through July 31. Water/Bodies presents photos, paintings and sculptures by established and emerging artists with connections to the East End and the New York Academy of Art. The works in the exhibition depict all things oceanic, pool-centric and sun-worshipping. An opening reception will be held on July 2 from 5-7 p.m.

The siren song of the sea, finding love while adrift on the waves and man baring his soul over his tugboat's short wave radio—all this and more can be found in Yvonne Lieblein's debut novel The Wheelhouse Café. Much of the plot takes place in Greenport, Long Island, Lieblein's hometown. Greenport is also the site of the Catch-A-Star Literary Luncheon on July 21 at the Soundview (Continued on page 144)

Historical East End: Anniversaries All Summer 2016 Long

BY EMILY SMITH GILBERT

Happy anniversary! America turns 240 years old this summer and there's plenty to celebrate. Peruse this roundup of East End milestones for interesting factoids (perfect for sharing with your cocktail party guests) and fun things to do!

Bridgehampton's 360th Anniversary and 60 Years of the Bridgehampton Museum

The Bridgehampton Museum was founded in 1956, but the town was established way back in 1656. That's a lot of history to keep track of. The Museum has an extensive collection of archives documenting the hamlet's transformation over the centuries, as well as the lives of its residents. This summer, look for events the museum will be hosting such as the 24th Annual Antique Show & Sale (June 25 & 26), a silent art auction and cocktail party (August 13), Folk Arts Day (August 20) and tours of the Beebe Windmill (July through September). 2368 Montauk Highway, Bridgehampton. 631-537-1088 bhmuseum.org

The Old Whalers' Church Standing Strong at 250 Years Old

The First Presbyterian Church in Sag Harbor originated in 1766 and was called the "Old Barn Church" in reference to its simple, wooden frame and lack of ceiling or plastered walls. It wasn't until 1844 that the building that has come to be known as the Old Whalers' Church was erected. In 1994, it was declared a National Historic Site. The building was designed in the Egyptian Revival style and is one of the most important surviving examples of this style remaining in the U.S. On July 16 from 6-8 p.m. the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church is hosting a fundraiser and cocktail party to benefit the Community House Fund at Old Whalers' Church. There will be a raffle drawing for three cash prizes, as well as drinks and hors d'oeuvres. 44 Union Street, Sag Harbor. 631-725-0894 oldwhalerschurch.org

The John Jermain Memorial Library in Sag Harbor Celebrates 106 Years

A lot has changed since 1910, the year the John Jermain Memorial Library opened its doors. Digital records, computers and e-books, just to name a few technological advances. But libraries are as necessary as ever. The new addition to the building (which has been undergoing massive renovations since 2010, overseen by Trunzo General Contracting of Wainscott) will more than double its size and includes three dedicated indoor programming spaces, an elevator and a climate-controlled historic archive room. It's anticipated to open later this month. Our fingers are crossed! 201 Main Street, Sag Harbor. (Currently located at 34 West Water Street). 631-725-0049 johnjermain.org

Amagansett Free Library's Centennial

Another library is having a big anniversary! The Amagansett Free Library marked its hundredth year with a centennial quilt, a celebration this past February and an ongoing project recording the oral histories of many of the hamlet's residents. Director

"The Invisible in the Black Mirror," by Enrique Celaya, at LongHouse

Cynthia Young says that all the programs they hold in 2016 will be in the spirit of celebrating the library's 100 years of service to the community. Some events to look forward to this summer are an author talk with Amagansett's own Neal Gabler (July 9) and with graphic artist Jules Feiffer (August 6). 215 Main Street, Amagansett. 631-267-3810 amaglibrary.org

Baron's Cove's Matty Boudreau

BY STACY DERMONT

Dan's Taste of Two Forks presented by Farrell Building Company returns Saturday, July 23, but to a new Bridgehampton location—the waterfront at Fairview Farm at Mecox. Chef Matty Boudreau from Sag Harbor's Baron's Cove will be there to share his food and insights with patrons. As he says, "We model ourselves as a New England seafood house, I'm from New England so cooking in the style of my roots always inspires me. I got my start in this business baking with my grandmother and selling sausages outside of Fenway Park as a kid. Thirty years later I still smile when I remember how I started this phenomenal journey."

What fuels your creativity as a chef?

I'm lucky enough to do what I love... from vegetables to fresh fish these are my paints to create my art. Every day we get to create.

What local ingredients are you using right now?

We strive to always use the best local products, year round. Early summer we have awesome asparagus, zucchini, radishes... we also have a garden at the hotel that has fantastic lettuces, herbs and hot peppers.

What do you think of the Montauk Fishburger?

Love the idea. Anything to keep it local!

What's your local cocktail of choice this season?

We have a drink called "Nefarious Intentions" with local rosé, strawberry agave, fresh strawberries and rhubarb bitters.

How has the gluten-free eating trend affected your menu?

Our area is full of different dietary restrictions, so catering to this is just part of the fun.

We have an awesome asparagus and chickpea cake—we use chickpea flour to bind it.

What are you most looking forward to at Dan's Taste of Two Forks?

Getting to interact with the guests and see what other restaurants bring to the table

Please complete this sentence: My mother would not approve of my gratuitous use of butter, but she would approve of the flavor I get from my gratuitous use of butter. 🍴

The Greenwich's Charmine Di Giovanni

BY STACY DERMONT

Dan's Taste of Two Forks presented by Farrell Building Company returns Saturday, July 23, but to a new Bridgehampton location—the waterfront at Fairview Farm at Mecox. The Greenwich's chef Carmine Di Giovanni will be there in the flesh and, as a sort of bonus, he'd like you to know that "I'm a huge gym buff."

What fuels your creativity as a chef?

I'm fueled up by the ingredients found in local markets and by the weather. Every new season creates exciting challenges for me and new ingredients to cook with.

What's your cocktail of choice this season?

Grapefruit sangria with mezcal

What local ingredients are you using right now?

English peas, goat cheese and heirloom carrots

What do you think of the Montauk Fishburger?

I love the idea of the Fishburger. The sustainability of the burger and its message is something I enjoy supporting because I try to use local ingredients to stay healthy and economically friendly.

Which of your dishes would you most like to serve to another chef?

Sweetbreads prepared with snails, bacon and roasted garlic.

How has the gluten-free eating trend affected your menu?

I've always cooked about 90% gluten free, so this trend hasn't really affected my cooking. With my cooking, I remain focused on the protein and market vegetable, but when preparing gluten free, I feel that taste and texture should not suffer.

What are you most looking forward to at Dan's Taste of Two Forks?

Hanging out with other chefs in the Hamptons.

Please complete this sentence: My mother would not approve of my kitchen style, but she would approve of the flavor I get from tuna tartare.

I could survive on a desert island if I just had: steak and wine. 🍴

Rumba's David Hersh Is on Fire

BY STACY DERMONT

Chef-owner David Hersh of Rumba and Cowfish in Hampton Bays will be heating things up at GrillHampton on July 22 at Fairview Farm in Bridgehampton. Top chefs will take sides as Team Hamptons competes against Team NYC in a one-of-a-kind cooking competition and tasting event. Enjoy the expertly grilled fare, beer and specialty cocktails, then be part of the action as you, and a judging panel of A-list palates, cast votes for the finest food of the night. As Hersh says about the home team, "Being on Eastern Long Island, much of our menu is inspired by utilizing many ingredients from local farms, fishermen and wineries."

How does cooking with fire affect your mood?

Cooking over fire, especially when using live wood, definitely gets the blood flowing. It brings out the "primitive being" in the chef while also creating flavorful food.

What's your favorite cut of meat?

I like a bone-in rib-eye. At Cowfish we feel we serve the best Prime 25 oz. rib-eye on Eastern Long Island.

What's local on your menu this season?

We have a variety of local wines and brews. We also serve several local seafood items like Sea Scallops, Tuna and Fluke.

Which of your dishes would you most like to serve to another chef?

Our Nola Shrimp is super impressive and tasty.

How have eating trends affected your menu?

Adapting to the needs and dietary trends of diners is a key to success for any restaurateur.

What are you most looking forward to at GrillHampton?

Getting a chance to arm wrestle and tasting all the delicious food.

Please complete this sentence: I most feel like a well-fed caveman when I'm grilling some prime steaks over live hickory wood.

I could survive on a desert island if I just had: Rumba's steak or fish tacos, lots of water and rum. 🍴

Alan Cumming Sings Sappy Songs at WHBPAC

BY EMILY SMITH GILBERT

Alan Cumming is just one of those people—he's comfortable in his own skin and has a boundless enthusiasm and curiosity. People like that are rare. Rarer still are people like that who can act, sing, write, direct, produce, and are actively involved with politics and other causes about which they're passionate.

Maybe you know Cumming from X-Men when he played the blue mutant Nightcrawler. Maybe you watched him on television when he hosted the 69th Annual Tony Awards with Kristin Chenoweth, or saw him on The Good Wife as the lawyer Eli Gold. If you were very, very lucky, you were in the Broadway audience when he was the emcee in Cabaret in 1998 and again in 2014.

When Cumming performs the cabaret show Alan Cumming Sings Sappy Songs at the Westhampton Beach Performing Arts Center (WHBPAC) on Saturday, July 9, you'll have the rare chance to see him as he is: not playing a character, just Alan Cumming, a man with a lilting Scottish accent, dynamic stage presence and who loves to sing.

"It's just me, talking and singing songs. There's no artifice," Cumming says. "I try to include as many people as I can. Making eye contact, singing right to them. Although," he laughs, "if there's a lot of light pointed at the stage it's hard to see past that."

Part of the inspiration for Sappy Songs came about during an after-hours get-together Cumming hosted in his 2014 Cabaret dressing room. Club Cumming, as it came to be known, was a place where the cast, crew and friends and family could unwind and listen to music as Cumming played DJ and sang. He noticed the emotional reaction people would have to particular songs and decided to build on that.

"It's about connecting with the audience, developing that intimacy. I just sing things that make me feel, and I want the audience to feel. You know, cabaret is about the different emotions we experience. A smorgasbord of emotions. It's not supposed to be something rote," he says.

His set list for the show, which premiered at Café Carlyle in 2015, has included songs that are a bit outside the canon of what is traditionally considered "sappy." There's a mashup of Adele, Lady Gaga and Katie Perry songs called "Someone Like the Edge of Firework." Avril Lavigne's emo pop anthem, "Complicated," is belted out in its entirety, as is Miley Cyrus' "The Climb." It's not all Top 40, though. Tunes from Annie Lenox, Billy Joel, Rufus Wainwright and Elaine Stritch, among others, have also been featured.

When asked if there's a recent song he's thought about singing, Cumming says, "Love Yourself," by Justin Bieber." It might not be the obvious choice, but Cumming isn't going for obvious. "For me it's the connection I feel when I hear a song. That kind of transporting quality certain music has. It brings up a memory. We're so into ourselves and music has the power to bring us out if that, to help us notice the world."

Interspersed with the songs are personal anecdotes, some relating to Cumming's 2014 memoir, Not My Father's Son, about his abusive father and search for the cause of his maternal grandfather's mysterious death. Others are tales of tattoo removal, Liza Minnelli or hosting the Tonys. Whichever songs Cumming sings or stories he tells, audiences will surely be entranced by his magnetic performance. There's something voyeuristic about watching such a vulnerable display of raw emotion. Even though the fourth wall is nonexistent in Sappy Songs, the viewers are safely ensconced in their seats while Cumming, on stage for all the world to see, sings his heart out.

Alan Cumming Sings Sappy Songs will be at the WHBPAC on Saturday, July 9 at 8 p.m. For tickets and more information, visit whbpac.org or call the box office at 631-288-1500.

Tony Award-winning Ballyhoo at Bay Street Theater

BY CHRISTIE LEIGH BABIRAD

Romance, class order, family, tradition—and what happens when these elements collide. The Last Night of Ballyhoo is a romantic comedy that explores the conflict between love, identity and history. The play, set in Atlanta, Georgia, focuses on a wealthy Jewish family preparing for Ballyhoo, a lavish German-Jewish country club ball, and on the importance of the event for the family's daughters, Lala and Sunny. All is going according to plan until the young women's uncle upsets everything when he arrives with his newest employee, a handsome Eastern European bachelor.

Bay Street Theater will present the 20-year-old play, written by Alfred Uhry, opening on June 28, and it will run through July 24. Set designer Alexander Dodge gives us the scoop on this humorous and heart-warming story and what influenced his set design for the show.

A scene from Ballyhoo shows the lush set design

Which historical elements stood out to you when you were conceiving the look of Ballyhoo?

Well, the idea of the story is a Jewish family who, ideally, wants to assimilate into an upper middle-class WASP-y world. The set design reflects that look of aspiration, the family wanting to be a part of this world through upper middle-class décor.

The set for The Last Night of Ballyhoo

What are some ways you created the feel of 1939 Atlanta?

I tried to make the set not completely naturalistic, but pretty naturalistic. The house interior reflects the time period with the furniture pieces we used.

It's a very interesting piece about a family coming to terms with their heritage, and so the design has a very specific insight into their family history. What's unique is that we don't see the outside world. The only entrance of penetration in this play is via a staircase, showing a family that's relatively sheltered.

What are you hoping the audience takes away from Ballyhoo?

I'm hoping the audience will be entertained and learn at the same time, gaining a little bit of insight into American history.

It's the 20th anniversary of this Tony Award-winning play and also Bay Street's 25th anniversary. What do you think the audience will enjoy the most about this production?

Alexander Dodge

The story itself, and the message that it carries. There are going to be surprise moments on a train that I'm hoping will be an interesting for the audience. I would say that it's a really wonderful piece [Bay Street] chose for their anniversary—it simultaneously entertains and gives insight.

The Last Night of Ballyhoo will run at Bay Street Theater, located at 1 Bay Street in Sag Harbor, from June 28 through July 24. For more information visit baystreet.org or call 631-725-9500.

Iced tea. Can be spiked, can be virgin. Will always be awesome. Anything that gets along so well with bourbon and vodka can't be that bad!

What kind of food do you like during a Yankees game?

I like a good Italian sausage with peppers and onions, or an old-school ballpark hotdog. I'm a big fan of the peanuts in the shell and possibly the soft pretzel. A few years ago I went to Yankee Stadium and had pretty great garlic french fries.

You've also worked in the U.K. What's the main difference, culinary-wise, between them and us?

They have a fascination with our comfort food that we do not reciprocate. I think it has to do with a lack of knowledge of British comfort food, not just a lack of quality.

There's a great deal of fine dining to be found, but they don't have the same late-night or take-out options that we do in the U.S. And, much like we may never be on equal footing when it comes to fish and chips, how are they ever going to make a better bagel than Brooklyn? Or a better slice of pizza than New York?

I love the fact that people in the U.K. use adjectives that we use for people for their food. For example: nice, lovely, gorgeous. I absolutely love it.

What's your dream acting role?

Right now, I'm currently obsessed with auditioning for Hamilton when it comes to England. I can actually sing, and those who know me know that I can spit a verse or three. I'm well aware that the production has been groundbreaking with the racial diversity in its casting, which is absolutely fantastic. And I think I know what my chances are going into it, but when I have a goal, I'm pretty tenacious. It's not about getting the role—it's the journey to be ready for the audition!

Is there anything you absolutely would not eat?

Maraschino cherries are the work of the devil. Also, potted meat, raw green peppers, sardines and anchovies in the can, as well as those small chunks of ham that they have in things like a Denver omelet, are near-medieval forms of torture that should be outlawed by the Geneva Conventions. I also kind of hate Cap'n Crunch, though I do respect their insistence on the abbreviation and the apostrophe.

What's next for you?

I'll be shooting a few specials based on the show that I just shot the second season for, Man Finds Food on the Travel Channel—which has been retitled in the U.S. as Secret Eats with Adam Richman.

True to my theater roots, I recently produced a play off-Broadway in New York that won a few awards. We're currently taking the production to London where it will open a week before GrillHampton. It's called Stalking the Bogeyman, and is based on a true story that the author heard on This American Life. It's pretty heavy—deals with a story of abuse—but we've partnered with SurvivorsUK and are using it as an opportunity for real outreach to those that have been affected.

I also have a couple of books in the works, and hope to continue the charity work that I've recently begun with Clear Path for Veterans.

Dan's Taste of Summer kicks off with Dan's GrillHampton hosted by Adam Richman on Friday, July 22 and continues on Saturday, July 23, with Dan's Taste of Two Forks presented by Farrell Building Company hosted by Alex Guarnaschelli, both on the waterfront at Fairview Farm at Mecox in Bridgehampton. VIP tickets for GrillHampton are $185 and offer early access to the event beginning at 7 p.m. General Admission, from 8 p.m.–10:30 p.m., is $135. VIP tickets for Taste of Two Forks are $295 and offer early access beginning at 6:30 p.m. General Admission, from 7:30 p.m.–10 p.m., is $185.

Christian Scheider's Film Series Screens in Amagansett

BY DANIEL KOONTZ

This summer, the Amagansett Free Library is presenting a children's film series with a novel premise. The series, called Pre-co-cious Cinema, is running every Wednesday at 6 p.m. through the end of August, and it's based on the idea that children's films represent a relatively untapped source of important themes and ideas—and that the children watching them have valuable things to say about them. In order to explore this, the film screenings at Amagansett Free Library will be followed by time for children and adults to discuss their thoughts about the films.

Christian Scheider is Pre-co-cious Cinema's mastermind and curator, and he's fervent in his belief that children's films deserve serious attention from the culture at large. "I actually used to catch a lot of flack for belittling children's films," he says. Scheider, who grew up in Sagaponack and who is the son of the late Roy Scheider—a film legend known for his starring roles in blockbusters like Jaws and The French Connection—is an actor and filmmaker who spends the greater part of the year in Los Angeles. With his frequent collaborator Tucker Marder, he has produced several acclaimed documentaries and is currently at work on a screenplay about the great musicologist Alan Lomax. These days, far from skeptical about children's films, he says he in fact aspires to the thematic clarity of children's cinema in his own work.

"A film like WALL-E (PIXAR's acclaimed computer-animated film from 2008) addresses all of the themes I hope to address in my own films," Scheider says, noting that he doesn't consider the film to be the far-fetched fantasy that it appears to be on the surface. "It's simple and elegantly made," he says, but it gets at fundamental issues about ordinary people's disconnection from the planet we live on.

"I thought, wouldn't it be great to make a series where kids and adults get a chance to engage with each other about these themes," says Scheider—and create a forum in which adults are encouraged to listen to children articulate their own ideas about the meanings of what they are viewing. Pre-co-cious Cinema thus seeks to not only take children's films seriously, but to take children's thoughts seriously as well.

Among the films planned for the series:

WALL-E: Pixar's computer-animated film about a robot's quest to heal a broken, abandoned planet Earth.

Antz: This 1998 computer-animated film (only the second feature-length computer-animated film ever produced) centers around the efforts of worker ant "Z" (voiced by Woody Allen) to break out of the drudgery of a Central Park ant colony and express himself.

Animal Farm: This 1950s British animated film of George Orwell's classic anti-totalitarian allegorical novel was actually secretly bankrolled by the C.I.A. as a piece of anti-Soviet propaganda during the Cold War.

Fantastic Mr. Fox: Wes Anderson's critically praised 2009 adaptation of the Roald Dahl book. Made using the old-fashioned technique of stop-motion animation, the film features an all-star roster of vocal talent, including George Clooney, Meryl Streep, and Wes Anderson regulars Owen Wilson and Bill Murray.

Spirited Away: This Japanese anime fantasy film (the most successful film in Japanese history) tells the story of Chihiro Ogino, a 10-year-old girl who goes on an adventure in the spirit world.

The Fox and the Hound: Disney's 1981 animated film about the unlikely friendship between natural adversaries. The Fox and the Hound marked the beginning of the renaissance of feature-length animated productions from Disney—which continues to this day.

Pre-co-cious Cinema, Wednesdays at 6 p.m. at the Amagansett Free Library, 215 Main Street, Amagansett. amaglibrary.org

Surprising East End Connection to the 100-Year-Old Easter Uprising

Manorville is more than just a bathroom break and venti latte from Starbucks—it has a rich history and unique memorials to boot. On the side of Route 111 you can find the Wicklow Memorial, which commemorates Tom Clarke and his wife Kathleen Daly, both Irish revolutionaries. Clarke and Daly participated in the 1916 Easter Rising in Ireland that marked the start of the Irish rebellion against British rule. Before 1916, Clarke and Daly owned a 60-acre farm in Manorville for two years.

New York Declares First American Indian Day 100 Years Ago

Since 1990, every November has been National American Indian and Alaska Native Heritage Month, but the first American Indian Day was declared by the State of New York in 1916. Red Fox Skiuhushu, a member of the Blackfeet tribe, rode more than 4,000 miles through 24 states to gain endorsements for the establishment of a day designated to honor American Indians. The then-governor of New York decreed the second Saturday in May to be American Indian Day. Long Island's remaining Native American tribes, the Montaukett and the Shinnecock, have difficult histories with the Europeans who settled on the land. In 1910, the Montauketts were declared "extinct," but, in fact, they have about 600 members on the original tribal roll. Currently Senate Bill S375A is in Committee at the New York State Assembly. Passage of the bill would make the Montauketts a recognized tribe on the state level. Linked to the Montauketts are the federally recognized Shinnecock Indian Nation in Southampton. Each Labor Day Weekend they host the Shinnecock Indian Powwow (2016's is September 2-5), and you can learn more about their rich history at the Shinnecock Nation Cultural Center and Museum. 100 Montauk Highway, Southampton. 631-287-4923 shinnecockmuseum.com montaukett.org

The World's First Billionaire Turns 100

One hundred years ago, the world got something it didn't know it needed: its first billionaire, John D. Rockefeller. But it was back in the summer of 2000 that a man who claimed to be a Rockefeller foiled and swindled his way through the Hamptons jet set—only this Rockefeller was a fake. Christophe Rocancourt, née Christopher Rockefeller, a 36-year-old Frenchman, ingratiated himself within the upper echelons of business and class, asking for money up front for investments he never intended to make. He accepted a plea deal (Continued on page 164)

Literary Death Match Comes to Southampton on July 16

BY EMILY SMITH GILBERT

What happens when you toss great literature, arbitrary judging criteria and comedic judges into a boxing ring? You get Literary Death Match (LDM), "the most entertaining reading series ever" according to the Los Angeles Times. LDM is a groundbreaking take on both the written and spoken word—an electrifying, feel-good spectacle that's part literary event, part comedy show and part game show.

On July 16 at 7 p.m., the Southampton Writers Conference presents Literary Death Match at Avram Theater to celebrate the launch of the Summer/Fall issue of TSR: The Southampton Review.

Every year, more than 10,000 people attend LDM events all over the world in cities as varied as Paris, London, Bucharest, Reykjavik, Hong Kong, Helsinki and more. Authors read their best work while a panel of judges evaluates the literary merit, performance and "intangibility" of the writing. The final round abandons any pretense of intellectual sensibility as the remaining authors compete in an absurd and comical climax for the title of Literary Death Match Champion. New Yorker columnist Been Greenman says, "Literary Death Match combines the best things about literature, mixed with a rare, anarchic energy."

Master of Ceremonies for this thrilling evening at Avram is Adrian Todd Zuniga, the creator of LDM, and an award-winning journalist and founder of Opium Magazine. The judges are Washington Post book critic Ron Charles; best-selling author of The Interestings Meg Wolitzer; New Yorker staff writer Adam Gopnik; and two-time U.S. Poet Laureate Billy Collins.

The four competitors include Iris Smyles, author of the semi-autobiographical novel Iris Has Free Time and the newly-released Dating Tips for the Unemployed, and whose story "Donner, Party of Two" appears in the Summer/Fall 2016 issue of The Southampton Review; Tracy M. King-Sanchez, an award-winning screenwriter, playwright, fiction and nonfiction writer; poet Timothy Liu, author of Bending the Mind Around the Dream's Blown Fuse; and Helen Simonson, the New York Times best-selling author of Major Pettigrew's Last Stand and The Summer Before the War.

Even the music has a literary influence: Zach Lazar's band will provide groovy tunes during the show. Lazar is the author of Sway, named Best Book of 2008 by the Los Angeles Times, as well as the memoir Evening's Empire: The Story of My Father's Murder. He's also the recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship and the Hodder Fellowship at Princeton University.

Since 1976, the Southampton Writers Conference, which takes place at the Stony Brook Southampton campus, has brought together writers at all stages of their careers with world-class novelists, essayists, editors, poets and children's book authors for lectures, readings, panels, and workshops.

TSR: The Southampton Review is the literary journal of the MFA Program in Creative Writing and Literature at Stony Brook Southampton. Founded by Lou Ann Walker in 2008, The Southampton Review consistently publishes award-winning fiction, nonfiction, memoir, poetry, and art and photography portfolios from established and emerging authors and artists. "This is a literary journal that readers will keep for a very long time, that they'll dip into again and again, discovering new voices and visions while savoring long-standing favorites," Walker says. "The Southampton Review is thrilled to be hosting Literary Death Match! What a wonderful marriage of literature and hijinks. The event will be hilarious, thought-provoking and high spirited."

Whether you're a lover of literature or just enjoy good ol' comedy and competition, this is a show you won't want to miss.

Catch Literary Death Match on July 16 at 7 p.m. sharp at Avram Theater, located on the Stony Brook Southampton campus at 239 Montauk Highway, Southampton. Call 631-631-5030 or visit literarydeathmatch.com for more information.

Do You Remember the Memory Motel? 40 Years After the Release of the Iconic Rolling Stones Song

Spring, 1975: The Rolling Stones were about to tour the U.S. and Andy Warhol invited them to his Montauk compound so they could prepare for the road ahead. Though the song "Memory Motel" wasn't released until 1976 (on the Black and Blue album), it was inspired directly by the landmark Montauk motel of the same name. "Hannah honey was a peachy kind of girl / Her eyes were hazel / And her nose were slightly curved / We spent a lonely night at the Memory Motel / It's on the ocean, I guess you know it well." ## Anniversaries

Alec Baldwin, Sarah Paulson, Darrell Hammond and Uzo Aduba. In June, a reading of Men's Lives (by Sag Harbor resident and playwright Joe Pintauro), directed by Emma Walton-Hamilton (one of Bay Street's founders), was staged at the Parrish Art Museum to commemorate the world premier of the play as the opening production at Bay Street in 1992. Mark your calendars: Bay Street's 25th Annual Summer Gala (July 9) will be held under a tent on Long Wharf itself. Expect appearances by Richard Kind, B.D. Wong, Jason Alexander and more. Dinner! Dancing! And a live auction! 1 Bay Street, Sag Harbor. 631-725-9500 baystreet.org

It's a Jubilee Year at LongHouse Reserve

You've never seen anything quite like the LongHouse Reserve in East Hampton. Designed by Jack Lenor Larsen, the house and the 16 acres on which it sits reflect "a creative approach to contemporary life." The extensive gardens contain more than 60 sculptures and works of art by Willem De Kooning, Buckminster Fuller and Yoko Ono, and others. The house, modeled after a Japanese shrine, is 13,000 square feet, has four levels and contains 18 spaces for viewing art. On July 23, enjoy "serious moonlight," celebrating 25 years of LongHouse with cocktails and a silent auction in the garden, a menu by Alice Waters and "serious dancing." Recommended dress is "night sky and silver." 133 Hands Creek Road, East Hampton. 631-329-6538 longhouse.org

Celebrating Hayground School's 20th Anniversary

The Hayground School is an independent alternative school committed to a program of innovation in an economically and culturally diverse environment. The mission at Hayground is to provide an open community where conventional teaching methods are replaced by new ways of learning and teaching. Founded in 1996, the school seeks to give its students (ages 3-14) the tools, perseverance and determination to be independent thinkers. The 2016 Chefs Dinner Benefit for the Hayground School & Jeff's Kitchen will be held on July 31. 151 Mitchell Lane, Bridgehampton. 631-537-7068 hayground.org

Goat on a Boat:

Still Young at Heart After 15 Years

For 15 years Goat on a Boat Puppet Theatre has been delighting children of all ages. Through a variety of shows, events and workshops, Goat on a Boat encourages families to participate in their own "cultural and creative education." This summer, their lineup includes productions such as Caps for Sale (July 16), Princess Pirate Pea (July 21) and Cinderella (August 13). Goat on a Boat brings the magic of puppetry to life at Bay Street Theater on Long Wharf. 1 Bay Street, Sag Harbor. 631-725-9500 goatonaboat.org

10 Years of the East Hampton Antiques Show

Widely recognized as a premier antiques event on the East End of Long Island, the 10th Anniversary of the East Hampton Antiques Show kicks off on July 22 with a Preview Cocktail Party hosted by Honorary Chairperson Aerin Lauder. The show will be open to the public on July 23 and 24 at the historic Mulford Farm, located on James Lane in (Continued on page 168)

Bowling Googlies for the Past 5 Years: The Shelter Island Cricket Match

The fifth installment of the Shelter Island Cricket Club's (SICC) annual cricket match will take place on Saturday, July 30, at the Island Boatyard. David Shillingford, the club's co-founder, says "We sell [SICC] merchandise, do a 50-50 raffle, and make a little money on the food and drink"—all of which goes to the Ambulance

Foundation that supports the Shelter Island Ambulance Corps. The match has quickly become one of the best family-friendly community events on the Island. Says Shillingford, "There are six or seven tents set up around the outside [of the playing field] serving food and beer and other drinks. [There are] games set up for kids...It's a nice way to spend a couple of hours on a sunny summer afternoon." Island Boatyard, 65 South Menantic Road, Shelter Island. ### The Fifth Annual Dan's Papers $10,000 Literary Prize for Nonfiction

Established in 2012, the Dan's Papers Literary Prize for Nonfiction celebrates the deep connection between writers and the East End of Long Island. Now in its fifth year, the Dan's Papers $6,000 Literary Prize for Nonfiction is open to writers of all ages, while the $4,000 Emerging Young Writers Prize for Nonfiction, established in 2015, is open to writers ages 25 years or younger. "I think if anyone can bring together some of the greatest writers around today on behalf of recognizing new, emerging work and thus 'restock the pond,' to the benefit of all, that would be Dan [Rattiner]," says Literary Prize Supporter Alec Baldwin. All entries will be judged by an independent panel that includes luminaries from the worlds of publishing, writing and academia. Winners will be announced at the gala awards ceremony at Guild Hall in East Hampton on September 1. Entries are being accepted online through August 12 at DansLitPrize.com.

Literary Centenary: Books by East End Authors Published in 1916

Relativity: The Special and General Theory by Albert Einstein

Did you know Albert Einstein spent the summers of 1937-1939 on the North Fork? The genius with the hair sailed and sunned in the waters of Little Peconic Bay and Horseshoe Cove. It was during one of these vacations that Einstein composed his prophetic letter to President Roosevelt, warning of the dangers of "extremely powerful bombs of a new type" made with uranium.

A Book-Lover's Holidays in the Open by Theodore Roosevelt

"The man should have youth and strength who seeks adventure in the wide, waste spaces of the earth..." How's that for an opener? The nation's 26th president was an avid outdoorsman and naturalist. In fact, it was Theodore Roosevelt who founded the United State Forest Service, created five National Parks and 150 National Forests, among many other acts of conservation. Holidays in the Open charts Roosevelt's exploits in the Navajo Desert, the ranchland of Argentina and Brazil, and his trek across the Andes and Northern Patagonia, among others.

Uneasy Money by P.G. Wodehouse

P.G. Wodehouse, best known for creating the character of the quintessential British butler Jeeves, lived much of his life after World War II in Remsenberg. His novel, Uneasy Money, is also set on Long Island in the fictional village of Brookport, "a summer place. It lives, like the mosquitoes that infest it, entirely on its summer visitors." A wonderful comedic farce, Uneasy Money is classic Wodehouse and makes for a delicious beach read. 🏖️

How to Have a Technology-free 4th of July

BY SALLY FLYNN

Before we begin, allow me a moment to kvell and thank the Island, especially the school and Lions Club, for helping me raise my autistic son, Jacob.

Jacob is now 25 and starts his first job soon. Tests revealed an IQ of 152 (150 is considered genius), poor verbal and excellent writing skills, a huge vocabulary and he types 90 words per minute! When he still wasn't speaking at age five, still bottle-fed and in pull-ups, I was advised to institutionalize him. Now, he'll be working at a newspaper. Wait...he'd better write nice things about me.

On to the important stuff. Remember our childhood 4th of Julys? We ran around at the gatherings driving our parents nuts, picking at the food, getting in the way of Dad heating up the grill. Sunscreen wasn't a thing—instead, everyone wore one of Dad's giant t-shirts. We swam. Then, dripping wet, ate at the table. Teenage girls, fried in Coppertone, sat wrapped in towels, wincing while moms slathered them with Noxema.

We'd go crabbing and bring our catch to the stockpot boiling on the grill. I remember wading out with cold beers and burlap bags to uncles treading clams, and dragging the full bags back to shore.

The day wasn't complete until my cousin, Brenda Sheehan (now Brenda Panzella of Mastic Beach), broke her arm—she even broke both arms at the same time one year!

Between running, climbing, swimming and brushing ants off the last of the hot dogs, we were exhausted, so tired we didn't argue with out parents when they said it was time to go.

I have an idea about how to give this experience to our high tech offspring. This is the plan:

Celebrate the 4th by throwing out your kids' electronics!

The night before the 4th, gather all media and game devices. Hide them outside in places that require physical effort to reach. Put X-boxes in plastic bags on floating docks. Enlist the fire department to ladder you into the trees to hide controllers and cartridges. Games can be put in air-tight containers and cast into the incoming tide the next day, forcing the kids to swim out to retrieve them, and maybe get one good jellyfish sting in the process. The sting will allow them to experience how smart their mother is when she pulls out a bottle of vinegar from her beach bag and relieves the pain. The games left behind by the tides will be a nice surprise for beachcombers.

Families can go crabbing off bridges. Bring a Ziplocked smart phone and drop it into the water near an ascending crab. The child will be forced to make a life-defining choice: grab the crab and be a true Islander with correct priorities or take a stand for his generation and go for the phone—crab with melted butter be damned.

Parents can also take kids boating and hurl the tech stuff off the boat, prompting the children to experience the joy of competitive swimming. First one back gets the charger.

Moms can use tablets to reward the young one for helping clean up, locating lost children, finding all the lids for the Tupperware or sneaking the car keys from the dads.

I'm starting a new tradition myself this year: I'm setting an extra place at the table and calling it my Soldier's Setting to show honor and gratitude for those that have been lost, that they should know we love them still and that they are forever. 🇺🇸

This Week's Cover Artist: Peter Max

BY VALERIE SAN FILIPPO

HONORING THE ARTIST

If you picture the '60s, you're probably imagining the artwork of Peter Max. Max's early work is iconic for its bold color and "cosmic style," a psychedelic, line-heavy method that took the art world by storm and may well have defined the aesthetic of the decade.

This week's cover, "Star Dreamer," merges Max's original style with his joyful patriotism, a theme that runs through much of his work. Through the years Max has painted President Reagan, President Clinton, and President Obama, as well as the American flag and Statue of Liberty on multiple occasions, each work encircling the subject with vivid halos or casting them with dynamic contours. His later work liberates itself with uninhibited brushstrokes and rich layers of color. It's an expression of freedom by a man who likes drawing the lines as much as he likes to paint outside of them.

How did you develop your distinctive style?

Originally I was a very strong realist. As the years went by I invented my own style. I loved astronomy. I got into yoga. My "cosmic style" is inspired by that. I loved it, and I still love it today. It all came about organically.

You grew up in many different countries. How has that influenced your art?

I was born in Berlin, but my first 10 years I spent in Shanghai, China. I painted there, and then in Tibet, in Israel, and in Paris. I familiarized myself with these places, and I saw their art. I came to the United States when I was 16, and I loved it immediately. Comics, films, radio, I was always drawn to the spectrum of work from America. When I came here I was changing from realism to collage to special painting, and then I got very broad with color blends.

Can you describe one of your favorite techniques?

I always loved being on the press doing color blends. [One technique I use is called] Split Fountain... I mix the color on the press itself, so instead of a red being all red it would constantly change from one color to the next.

How would you describe your creative process?

I'm always being creative; I do special and new effects all the time. Sometimes I have things in mind, sometimes nothing. Sometimes too much in mind, sometimes not enough. It's always nice for me to change my process... Every day I paint. Every day I never know where I'm going. The most fun part is that I never know, so it's always fresh.

How do you feel your style has evolved through the years?

I've gone from line work to painterly to surrealist, and every year it has changed. Expressionism. I always blend forms with other forms. My work is constantly evolving.

You've painted portraits of many celebrities and politicians through the years. Do you have any fun stories to share?

Once I painted for President Reagan at the White House. I was finishing my work, "Large Liberty," and I gave the president my brush. He finished off the painting. He liked that a lot, and so did I.

Is there a subject you've always come back to in your artwork?

When I grew up I was always painting stars and planets. But, I was also constantly changing, hundreds of subject coming into my mind over the years... presidents, icons, magazines. Big things in the United States.

Do you have anything you'd like to add?

I'd like to say hello to all my friends in the Hamptons, and send my love to them! 🐶

Dan's Taste of Summer Hits Montauk

BY STACY DERMONT

Dan's Papers newest Taste of Summer event, Clambake MTK at Gurney's Montauk, premieres on Saturday, July 30. It will be the largest oceanfront food and drink fest ever to hit Montauk. In addition to local food and restaurants, Clambake MTK will bring together a range of top New York restaurants including Seamore's, which is located on Broome Street. Michael Chernow, Seamore's owner, co-founder of The Meatball Shop and host of the reality show Food Porn on the FYI network, is looking forward to bringing his crew to The End in July.

What fuels your creativity as a chef?

The seasons, the sun and wellness.

What local ingredients are you using right now?

Spring onions, fiddle heads, asparagus.

What are you most looking forward to at Clambake MTK?

A day with my crew cooking outside. It's always fun to change up the environment for us. Being by the water is the best.

What do you think of the Montauk Fishburger Project?

Love it. Sustainable eating is the only way we can ensure longevity and health in our lives and the life of our environment. Eat sustainably whenever possible.

What's your local beverage of choice this season?

Organic cold-pressed watermelon juice.

Which of your dishes would you most like to serve to another chef?

The crispy fish tacos at Seamore's.

How has the gluten-free eating trend affected your menu?

Most everything on the menu can be made gluten-free, aside from the sandwiches.

My mother would not approve of: my motorcycle; but she would approve of the flavor I get from the breakfast bagels for brunch at Seamore's.

I could survive on a desert island if I just had: coconuts and fish.

Micky Dolenz Rocks Suffolk Theater July 17

BY DAN KOONTZ

What's the difference between a Micky Dolenz concert and a Monkees concert? "Not a lot," says Micky Dolenz, laughing. Dolenz was one of the four original members of the Monkees, a band put together for a TV show, The Monkees, that first aired starting in 1966.

"I sang lead on a lot of the Monkees songs, so in my show I do a lot of the same songs." That would mean Monkees hits like "I'm a Believer," "Pleasant Valley Sunday," and "(I'm Not Your) Stepping Stone." "I even use the same band," says Dolenz, although this performance won't include his fellow surviving Monkees, Peter Tork and Michael Nesmith. A fourth original Monkee, Davy Jones, passed away in 2012.

East Enders will get a chance to experience Micky Dolenz live on Sunday, July 17, at Suffolk Theater in Riverhead. It's a pretty exciting time to see Dolenz, as the show comes amidst celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the Monkees, which is being marked by the release of a new album on Rhino Records, called Good Times! (which hit number 14 on the Billboard chart), and a full-fledged Monkees tour coming in the fall.

Courtesy Suffolk Theater

After 50 years, the controversy surrounding the Monkees and its members—in the '60s, the band was criticized by purists for relying on session musicians to play on their records—has eased quite a bit. What remains is an appreciation for the legacy of endearing pop songs, written by the likes of Carole King and Neil Diamond, that the Monkees brought to the world. Happily, it is these classic songs that form the backbone of Dolenz's live set.

And the new Monkees album promises to add to this legacy. "I'm so, so proud of the new album," says Dolenz. "It happened very quickly—the stars aligned." The record, which reunites Dolenz with Peter Tork and Michael Nesmith, was spurred by the discovery, in a vault, of several incomplete tracks recorded in the '60s. "They were churning out material for the show, trying to keep up with demand, and then the show got cancelled and it just got filed away."

Among the newly discovered material was what became the title track of the new album, "Good Times," written by a young Harry Nilsson. The multi-track master was complete with the late Nilsson's own inimitable lead vocal. It now appears on the album as a virtual duet between Nilsson and Dolenz. "I later became very good friends with Nilsson," says Dolenz, "so it was like singing a duet with one of my best friends."

In addition to mining the rediscovered tracks for material, the word went out to songwriters that a new Monkees album was in the works, and some great songs poured in—all tapping into that tuneful Monkees vibe. "We met with Adam Schlesinger (of Fountains of Wayne fame) and we loved his sensibility." Schlesinger penned a few of the album's new songs and served as producer on the project. Death Cab for Cutie's frontman, Ben Gibbard, provided "Me and Magdalena," a beautiful duet for Dolenz and Nesmith that appears not once, but twice on the new album. ("We couldn't decide which version we liked more," says Dolenz.) Rivers Cuomo of Weezer also contributed a song, "She Makes Me Laugh."

Poignantly, the album includes the never-released "Love to Love," featuring the late Davy Jones on lead vocals, originally recorded in 1967 and then shelved. Here it appears augmented with newly-recorded backup vocals by Dolenz and Tork. "During the concert we project Davy up on a screen and we play along to his singing," says Dolenz.

What Monkees fan wouldn't want to see that? So dust off your Monkees fan club buttons and get over to Riverhead for the Micky Dolenz show. It'll be a great way to prepare for when the rest of the Monkees come along. "Here they come, walking down your street..."

On July 17 at 7:30 p.m., Micky Dolenz will perform at the Suffolk Theater, 118 East Main Street, Riverhead. For more information, visit suffolktheater.com or call 631-727-4343.

Mirabelle's Reuge Speaks Language of Love

BY STACY DERMONT

Dan's Harvest East End, the can't-miss food and wine classic, will be held on Saturday, August 20, at McCall Vineyard and Ranch in Cutchogue. Chef Guy Reuge of Mirabelle (in Stony Brook) and Sandbar (in Cold Spring Harbor) has a unique perspective on coastal farm-to-table cooking on Long Island. Reuge hails from the Normandy region of northwestern France and his restaurants are often cited as two of the best restaurants on Long Island. In fact, Mirabelle celebrated its 30th anniversary as such in 2014. Reuge shares, in his mellifluous French accent, that, "I like for your reader to continue appreciating the constant efforts that chefs make to contribute to their happiness. I also like for them to open their eyes to this beautiful array of bounty that Long Island has to offer. It's a place that I cherish very much and like to share with others."

What fuels your creativity as a chef?

My passion for ingredients triggers my imagination.

What local ingredients are you using right now?

Local oysters, great fluke, spring mesclun, and herbs from my garden

What's your local beverage, or cocktail, of choice this season?

I rarely drink cocktails but I like it when one of our barman comes up with an idea that can please my palate. Sparkling Pointe sparkling wines and especially rosé, as the summer approaches, is a drink of choice for me. I'm not a beer drinker but a fresh pilsner from one of our local breweries is always perfect on a hot summer day.

Which of your dishes would you most like to serve to another chef?

I care less about a dish than about the perfect execution of it, especially if it's for another chef... which is always scary.

How has the gluten-free eating trend affected your menu?

It's interesting that you call the gluten allergy a trend because it's exactly that. I, however, will admit that gluten tends to keep you bloated and therefore a little lethargic, but the exaggeration of this kind of diet has reached new proportions. Give it another year and something else will come up. I feel sorry for the bread makers.

What are you most looking forward to at Harvest East End?

The event itself, the massive amount of people gathering there, reconnecting with old friends, and what an excuse for a great party!

Please complete this sentence: My mother would not approve of my food being served for so many people but she would approve of the dish I feature and help me to serve it.

I could survive on a desert island if I just had: A case of ham sandwiches with great butter and cornichons, water to survive, and sparkling rosé, as long as I'm not alone on this island. 🍷

A Chat with The Unmovers' Joseph Vecsey

BY JORDAN GREEN

Joseph Vecsey and fellow Unmovers, Leonard Ouzts and K.C. Arora, will perform standup comedy at Bay Street Theater in Sag Harbor on July 4 at 8 p.m. The Unmovers is a popular web series that has over a million views online. The series is produced by Optimum Cable TV and has just concluded filming its second season. Besides acting, Vecsey does stand-up, writes comedy sketches, and hosts a podcast called The Call Back. He's a New York City native whose parents live on the East End. Vecsey is a regular at Bay Street Theater, where he's hosted the All Star Comedy Show for the past six years.

How did you first get into comedy and standup?

I went to film school at Brooklyn College on a screenwriting track, so I was writing comedy scripts there. The first time I did stand-up was six years ago at an open mic, and I just kept doing it after that.

What do you think of the success of The Unmovers?

I didn't know it would be perceived like this and do as well as it has, so it was definitely a surprise. Although, when I read the scripts I thought it would be pretty good, but you can never know.

We had fun the first year and just shot Season Two a couple weeks ago. It was a lot of fun, we were just improvising and joking.

Talk about your upcoming show with the rest of the Unmovers.

Anthony DeVito is hosting the show for us. The three of us [Vecsey, Ouzts and Arora] are going to do separate standup sets. We might get out there on stage together for a little bit to mess with the crowd.

What's it like performing at Bay Street Theater?

All the shows have been great there and the crowds have been awesome. They've been getting bigger and bigger, younger and younger. When we first did the show out there it was more of a challenge. Now I think the audience has gotten more diverse and become more of my demographic.

How did you get to host the All Star Comedy Show?

I approached Bay Street Producing Director Gary Hygom and asked if he would want to do a show with up-and-coming comedians. It was something different, and he took a chance on the idea. It started as just a summer show, but now the All Star Show is almost every month of the year.

I bring out the best comedians from New York. All the comedians who come out love performing at Bay Street because the venue is so nice and prestigious.

What's your podcast, The Call Back, about?

It's basically an excuse to sit down with bigger comedians and ask them questions about the process, the craft, their career, etc. It's like taking them out to lunch to pick their brain. I've had Aziz Ansari, Neil Brennan (the co-creator of Chappelle's Show), Chris Rock, Gary Shandling, Romany Malco, and others on there. I've learned a lot and it's been a huge help. There's a lot of information for an aspiring comic or actor, or just a comedy fan.

What do you use for material?

I talk about personal experiences, relationships, ex-girlfriends and weird stuff that's happened to me. There's also some observational stuff here and there that I choose to complain about or pick out.

The Unmovers, Joseph Vecsey on right

Who are your comedic idols?

Growing up, it was definitely Adam Sandler, Chris Rock, Chris Tucker, David Spade and the Wayans brothers. I loved the way Sandler wrote his movies. The guy changed a lot for me when I saw credits on the back of DVDs and saw he wrote his own stuff.

If you want a good laugh, be sure to check out The Un-Movers at Bay Street Theater on July 4 at 8 p.m. For more information visit baystreet.org or call 631-725-9500.

Jean Shafiroff on the Good of Giving Back

BY BELLAMY SMITH

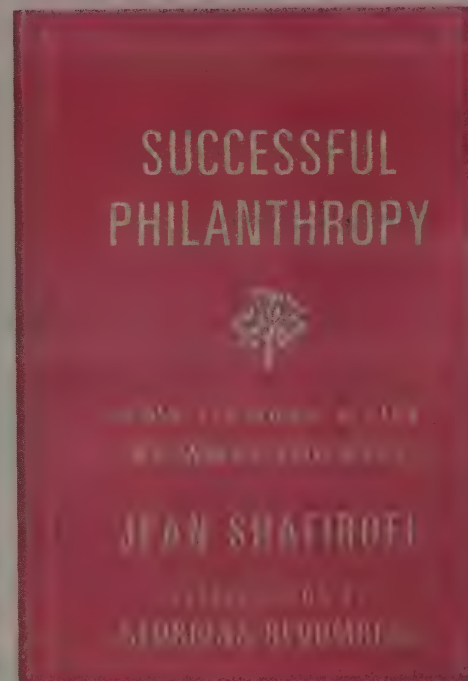

lifetime," writes Shafiroff in her new book, Successful Philanthropy: How to Make a Life by What You Give.

Shafiroff practices what she preaches. A volunteer fundraiser, leader and spokesperson for several charitable causes, the spectrum of Shafiroff's philanthropic work includes improving the lives of underserved populations, women's rights and well-being, healthcare, animal welfare and resources for children in need, in addition to other causes. She serves on the boards of New York City Mission Society, New York Women's Foundation, French Heritage Society, Couture Council (Museum of the Fashion Institute of Technology), Jewish Board of Family and Children's Services, Southampton Animal Shelter Honorary Board and Southampton Bath & Tennis Club's Charitable Foundation.

Shafiroff works closely with the multiple causes she supports. Each year she chairs numerous galas and hosts events benefiting not-for-profit organizations. She is particularly well known for her leadership in fundraising for Southampton Hospital, New York City Mission Society, New York Women's Foundation and Southampton Animal Shelter.

With so much experience, Shafiroff is an excellent guide into the world of charitable giving. Successful Philanthropy is billed as the "practical guide to modern giving that redefines philanthropy for a new era." The book is organized into chapters with titles such as "A New Definition of Philanthropy," "Why Should I Give?" and "How to Treat Volunteers, Paid Employees, Those Served by Charity, and Donors." (Of the latter, Shafiroff writes, "Make certain to pay attention to the person who attends an event year after year...Sometimes, long-term supporters (those who give many small gifts over time) will give a large sum to a charity later or decide to become very involved with the charity at some point in the future.")

A section called "Notable Philanthropists" provides an intimidating list: Bill Gates, Warren Buffet, Michael Bloomberg, John D. Rockefeller. One might think billions of dollars are necessary in order to become a successful philanthropist. Smartly, Shafiroff addresses this, writing, "[The] new definition of philanthropy means that each and every one of us can become a philanthropist: practicing philanthropy means acting out love for humanity, in any number of ways. It means we can follow our passions to help our world and all those in it."

Successful Philanthropy provides tips and tricks for running events and personal anecdotes from Shafiroff's own experience, including being the Chairwoman three times for Southampton Hospital's annual gala, during which she helped to raise $5.4 million dollars. Other details explained in the book include what charitable boards look for in a candidate and specific information for those considering starting a charity. (Hint: "be prepared to do a great deal of work and research.")

This is the perfect book for anyone beginning a philanthropic career. It gently eases the reader into the world of charitable giving by unpretentiously assuming that all of this is new information. It also illuminates the amount of perseverance and wrangling that goes into successful fundraising. Shafiroff has written the philanthropy bible and it is a must-read for those who wish to "make a life by what [they] give."

On Saturday, July 2 at 5 p.m., Jean Shafiroff will give a book talk and sign copies of Successful Philanthropy: How to Make a Life by What You Give at Rogers Mansion, 17 Meeting House Lane, Southampton. Bob Chaloner, President and CEO of Southampton Hospital, will introduce Shafiroff. A reception will follow the talk. ## New Rosé, Fro Yo and Invasion of the Pop Ups!

BY VALERIE SAN FILIPPO

If you're looking for a way to cool off this holiday weekend, head to Buddhaberry for all sorts of fabulous frozen treats. Their frozen yogurt has five cultures and three probiotic strains to aid in digestion. Fill your cup with the good stuff, then cover it in candy. Healthy? Mostly!

It's all about balance at Buddhaberry. Quality ingredients make their yogurts, sorbets, smoothies, shakes, Belgian waffles and crepes all as guilt free as dessert can be. You'll find Buddhaberry at 43 South Euclid Avenue in Montauk, or at 125 Main Street in Sag Harbor. Visit buddhaberry.com to find out more.

Celebrate the spirit of Independence Day with a brand new fragrance. Bond No. 9 has released a new line of scents for their Summer '16 collection. Liberty Island is a fruity floral blend with hints of summer nostalgia: bergamot essence, Mandarin essence, black currant, orange blossom absolute, jasmin, marshmallow and musk. The classic Bond No. 9 star bottle is emblazoned with white stars, just like Old Glory herself. Find the new scent at the Bond No. 9 boutique at 45 Main Street in Sag Harbor, or at bondno9.com.

If you're not familiar with Finca Wölffer, now is the best time to give it a taste. Finca Wölffer Rosé is grown from Wölffer's vineyard in Mendoza, Argentina. This isn't a simple saignée rosé. It's made with a special blend of malbec, pinot noir, syrah, and others to create the perfect acidity and depth. While Wölffer did introduce a rosé, Finca Wölffer Brau, from the Mendoza vines in 2014, this new and improved rosé was picked later (read: riper) and is true to the style of Argentinian wine. Basically, now the Wölffer folks down in Argentina know what they're doing. Finca Wölffer won't remain a little known wine for long, so snag a bottle at retailers around New York City and the Hamptons starting July 1. Due to a series of import snafus you won't be able to buy it directly from Wölffer Estate, so keep an eye out, and buy it when you can. And a tip, if you're now craving rosé: Wölffer is offering free shipping in the tri-state area on all cases of Summer in a Bottle Rosé through July 4. Visit wolffer.com to learn more.

Making travel plans this summer? Well, before you head off into the sunset, you're going to need to find a way to JFK. Luckily, Groundlink, the New York based black car service, is running exclusive deals for Hamptons residents. With their new feature, Hampton Private Driver, you can get a private car to any New York area airport for as low as $45 per person. Groundlink is tech-enabled and super convenient. Use the app to reserve a driver when and where you need it, and take the stress out of airport travel. Download the GroundLink app, or visit groundlink.com for more information. Use the promo code HAMPTONS for extra savings.

East Hampton resident and Lexington Company founder Kristina Lindhe has released a new book, Living with Lexington. The book is a distillation of Lexington Company's aesthetic and Lindhe's inspiration, most of which is drawn from New England and the Hamptons. The book describes the unique East Coast style from an outside perspective. As you flip through the pages of well-curated photographs, you'll feel as if you're looking at your own home with fresh eyes. You can pick up your copy at the Lexington Concept Store at 73 Main Street in East Hampton, or at lexingtoncompany.com.

East Ender Elizabeth "Buffy" Cooke has a new book, The Hotel Marcel Dining Club. This is Cooke's seventh book in a series describing small hotels in Paris, where Cooke lived throughout the '50s. The Hotel Marcel Dining Club tells the story of a small hotel as it competes with its neighbor, The Majestic Hotel, for the customers from its dining room. Find it at your local bookstore, or on amazon.com.

Helen Ficalora jewelry has released a new Fall 2016 mini collection of rings and earrings. Each adorably dainty item is designed to be worn in multiple ways. Worn alone, the golden moon and star ring is delicate and sweet. Stacked with other rings in the collection (the maple leaf, the evil eye, and other super cute designs), it moves from simple and subtle to a bohemian statement piece. Layer the new jewels like you would any other (Continued on next page)

Alex and Ani has teamed up with Life is Good Kids Foundation for a new collection of Charity by Design bracelets. The new bangles feature mantras like “simplify,” “fearless,” and the classic “life is good.” Twenty percent of the purchase price will benefit the Life is Good Foundation, which builds healing relationships between childcare professionals and the children they care for. If you want to get in on these good vibes, you can find the new bracelets at Sea Creations in Port Jefferson, 134 Main Street. While you're there, check out the Rio Olympics collection they've also got in stock and rep your favorite event (gymnastics, soccer, basketball) proudly on your wrist. Visit seacreations.com or alexandani.com for more information.

Going, going, gone: Pop-up shops and fashion collectives are sprouting up everywhere, but their swift and silent arrivals mean it's easy to miss them before they disappear into the night. Here are a few to check out in the upcoming weeks, and some exciting shopping events to visit before the weekend is done.

Vanessa Traina has a new pop-up shop in Amagansett for her brand The Line. The Line is full of gorgeous, generously cut items designed to drape perfectly and last for years. Carefree classics include oversized t-shirts, wide leg trousers, and elegant shift dresses. They've also got some beautiful home accents for sale, all modern, dreamy and light. Find The Line's seasonal store at 154 Main Street in Amagansett. Call 631-528-7236 or visit theline.com.

Also in Amagansett, you'll want to stop by the Amagansett Fine Arts Festival. From July 1 through July 3 local artists will show their paintings, drawings, prints, sculpture, jewelry and more. You'll see gorgeous and unique designs and discover new perspectives while chatting with the artists and learning about their process. Find the Amagansett Fine Arts Festival at the Amagansett American Legion, 15 Montauk Highway, Amagansett. Visit amagansettfinearts.com to find out more.

Everything But Water is hosting a Norma Kamali Trunk Show on July 2nd, from noon to 4 p.m. Join the award winning designer for cocktails as you shop the collection and enjoy personal fittings. Head to Everything But Water at 66 Newtown Lane in East Hampton. Visit everythingbutwater.com to find out more.

If you're down at The Montauk Beach House, you'll have to visit Poolside Collective, which is located (appropriately enough) poolside. There you can purchase a Poolside tee or tank with its simple on-trend logo. You'll find brands such as Elle Sasson, Maria Stanley, Morgan Carper, Nikki Chasin, Rachel Antonoff, Upstate, Ohlin/D and WHIT. Keep all your new swag safe in a handmade Poolside straw beach bag, which can be customized with embroidered rap lyrics. July 9 is the Poolside Block Party, with music and special designer guests. This shop is presented through a partnership with Poolside by Poolside Collective and Brand Assembly, and is open through Labor Day. The Montauk Beach House is located at 55 South Elmwood Avenue in Montauk. Find out more at thembh.com, or visit wearpoolside.com.

The Hampton's Beach Collective is now open at 2462 Main Street in Bridgehampton. If that address seems familiar, that's because the pop up show is nestled inside the brand new Blow Beauty Bar location. Including brands like Alice & Trixie, Hip Chik Home, Mirame Swim, Rescue Sun and Victorine NYC, you'll find everything you need for a head-to-toe transformation. And what better place to buy a hostess gift than the same place you're getting your blowout? You'll look fabulous at any party you attend, and have the latest, greatest home accessories to gift and share. Call 917-885-8861 for more information on this PopUp Summer! location.

Fending Off Black Spot, the Scourge of Roses

BY JEANELLE MYERS

I love roses. Who doesn't? But like many other flowers, they were considered frivolous by adults when I was a girl. Any roses that grew in my small town, "out on the plains" of Nebraska, had to be extremely hardy to withstand the tough climate.

Quite a few years ago (when I was a less-experienced gardener), I planted a large rose garden for a client. Oh boy, I thought, I know how to do this! David Austin roses are my favorite, and I used only that type in the garden. I chose them for color and size of the plant. The garden was, and still is, a rose heaven. I knew how to prune them in the spring, to deadhead properly, to summer prune, to prune for air circulation. I knew not to water the roses from above and, before I'd even planted them, to look for "disease resistant" in the description. I made my own compost and applied a good layer each spring and fall, and didn't have much of a problem with black spot at all.

Black spot is a fungus that can attack any species of plant if the conditions are right, though it's most commonly associated with roses. It usually begins to manifest in the spring when temperatures are consistently in the 60s and plants have been damp for six to nine hours (from rain or dew). As the name suggests, small black spots begin to appear on the leaves and, if the fungus goes unchecked, the black spots become ringed with yellow, followed by the leaves turning yellow and falling off the stem.

Now I'm back in that same rose garden after a three-year absence. I'm having trouble with black spot, but I no longer have the tools to make my own compost. The natural compost I used on the rose bushes supplied nutrients and worked as mulch, limiting the ability of the fungus spores to attach to the leaves. I'm convinced that had my system been continued the roses would be disease-free.

I'm not the lady to use chemical fungicides! This year, I'm trying neem oil. (The neem is a coniferous tree native to India. Oil is made from the pressed fruits and seeds of the tree.) I began spraying once per week before the buds broke. So far I've seen very little black spot...well, there's that delicate lavender rose bush that's almost defoliated. But I know the lavender gal is tough because she recovers, and has done so for all these years. It's just that she panics on the first hot-ish day and drops all her leaves at once.

If I'd known all those years ago what I know now (and I'm still learning), I would have done some things differently.

I would have planted fewer roses in order to create more space between each bush. I would have planted experimentally and been more willing to remove and replace. I would have insisted that the client be willing to mulch the roses regularly. I would have kept searching for good compost and insisted that the client use it.

Stop and smell the roses!

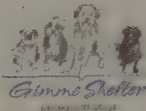

This last point is problematic because I don't know of a good compost. Compost and mulch can be expensive, and it can be difficult for the client to understand why using them is preferable to the much-cheaper fungicides.

In the absence of good compost, I'm going to use the foliar feeding technique (applying fertilizer directly to the plant's leaves) and continue with the neem oil applications. I'll still be on the lookout for other black spot treatments—if you have ideas, let me know. 🌹

GIVE YOUR CHILD A HEALTHY SMILE

Many parents don't realize how early dental problems can occur, or just how important those "baby teeth" are!

Prolonged and frequent bottle or breast feeding can cause baby bottle tooth decay. Diets high in sugar from fruit roll-ups, sticky candies, juice and soda can also cause lots of cavities. Thumb and pacifier habits can cause malformations of the palate.

Children are not done losing their baby teeth until they are 12-13 years old! These teeth hold the spaces for permanent teeth, shape your child's face, and help with speech, eating and chewing.

Dr. Nancy Cosenza specializes in dentistry for children from infancy to their teenage years. At Hampton Pediatric Dental Associates, we know that not only children, but their teeth, are entirely different from adults. In fact, pediatric dentists require 2 years' additional training and education beyond dental school!

(There are only 5,000 pediatric dentists in the U.S. and we're the only pediatric dental practice in the Hamptons!)

Our office is colorfully painted and cheerfully designed a definite "kid-friendly" environment. Our staff is genuinely warm and cheerful too!

Call us at (631) 287-8687 if you have any questions or would like to arrange an appointment.

Remember that good dental habits and experiences started in childhood will last a lifetime! We know how to make kids leave the dentist's chair smiling -- and their parents, too!

Fishing with Westlake's Chef Larry Kolar

BY STACY DERMONT

Dan's Papers newest Taste of Summer event, Clambake MTK at Gurney's Montauk, premieres on Saturday, July 30. It will be the largest oceanfront food and drink fest ever to hit Montauk—Montauk's Westlake Fish House chef Larry Kolar will be there. Named Dan's Papers Best of the Best Chef last year, Kolar points out, "Montauk has been the subject of negative press over the past few years. I want people to know that there are many places families can still go to enjoy local food and have a great time, like they've been able to for decades."

What fuels your creativity as a chef?

Local ingredients—we re-opened on May 6. On the opening menu I had local fluke, clams, oysters, cod and kale.

What do you think of the Montauk Fishburger?

Children should eat better in general. Most cafeterias serve fatty, unhealthy foods to children and wonder why there are health problems. At Westlake we have healthy choices on our children's menu.

What's your local beverage, or cocktail, of choice this season?

Montauk Rumrunners
Coconut Rum

Which of your dishes would you most like to serve to another chef?

Local scungilli salad

How have eating trends affected your menu?

I started a low carbohydrate lean protein diet this off-season. I found it almost impossible to eat out. This season I'll have many healthy choices next to the Fish 'n' Chips and Mac 'n' Cheese.

What are you most looking forward to at Dan's Taste of Summer Clambake MTK?

Seeing how other local chefs are using local ingredients.

Please complete this sentence: My mother would not approve of my tequila drinking but she would approve of the flavor I'm able to get from the local catch.

Chef Larry Kolar

I could survive on a desert island if I just had: tequila, Bedell Cellars Taste White, limes and kale. I'm on an island—I figure I'll catch fish.

Dan's Taste of Summer kicks off with Dan's GrillHampton hosted by Adam Richman on Friday, July 22, and continues on Saturday, July 23, with Dan's Taste of Two Forks presented by Farrell Building Company hosted by Alex Guarnaschelli, both on the waterfront at Fairview Farm at Mecox in Bridgehampton.

The oceanfront food and drink fest Clambake MTK at Gurney's Montauk, hosted by Marc Murphy and Eden Grinshpan, premieres on Saturday, July 30.

Dan's Harvest East End, the can't-miss food and wine classic, hosted by Geoffrey Zakarian is Saturday, August 20, at McCall Vineyard and Ranch in Cutchogue. A portion of this year's ticket proceeds from GrillHampton and Taste of Two Forks will benefit All For The East End (AFTEE), a 501(c)(3) that showcases and provides support to the more than 1,000 charity organizations in the five East End towns. A portion of proceeds from Harvest East End benefits Long Island Farm Bureau and HRHCare.

Southampton Social Club's Chef Scott Kampf

BY STACY DERMONT & CHRISTIE LEIGH BABIRAD

Dan's Taste of Two Forks presented by Farrell Building Company returns Saturday, July 23, but to a new Bridgehampton location—the waterfront at Fairview Farm at Mecox. Chef Scott Kampf points out that "The Southampton Social Club [SSC] is more than a nighttime scene. It's also one of the Hamptons top restaurants." Attendees are eager to try what Kampf brings to the tasting event from SSC and from his new restaurant with owner Ian Duke, Union Cantina, which has taken over the former Publick House site in Southampton. Union Cantina promises high-end Mexican fare and a great bar scene year-round.

What fuels your creativity as a chef?

The trends in foods. Clean foods. What's available—ingredients that are coming out right now. We have a lot of variety on the East End.

What local ingredients are you using?

Right now I'm using local tomatoes, strawberries and asparagus.

What's your local cocktail of choice this season?

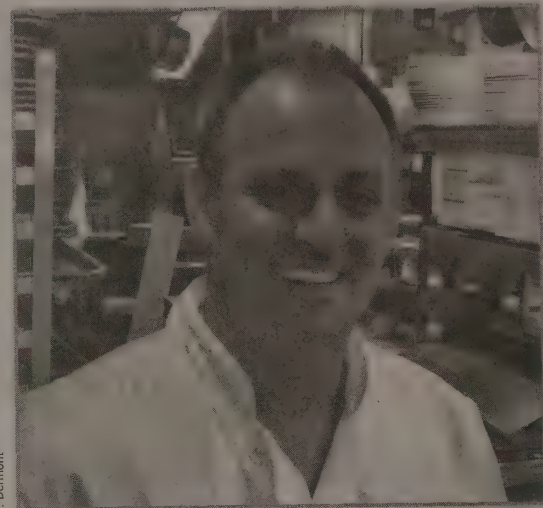

A fresh watermelon purée, jalapeño stuffed with cheese, Don Julio Blanco Tequila and fresh lime juice.

Which of your dishes would you most like to serve to another chef?

Striped Bass Provençal over black forbidden rice and roasted asparagus.

The Southampton Social Club

Chef Scott Kampf

How has the gluten-free eating trend affected your menu?

We've adapted to this trend by bringing organic quinoa and black rices to our dishes.

What are you most looking forward to at Dan's Taste of Two Forks?

The opportunity to present our new restaurant, Union Cantina, to the public.

Please complete this sentence:

My mother would not approve of my attitude on busy nights, but she would approve of the flavor I get from local ingredients and foods.

I could survive on a desert island if I just had: Honey Smacks, milk, Coca-Cola, avocado and turkey—in that order.

Dan's Taste of Summer kicks off with Dan's GrillHampton on Friday, July 22, and continues on Saturday, July 23, with Dan's Taste of Two Forks presented by Farrell Building Company, both on the waterfront at Fairview Farm at Mecox, Bridgehampton. New to the lineup this year is the oceanfront food and drink fest Clambake MTK at Gurney's Montauk in Montauk on July 30. Dan's Harvest East End, the can't-miss food and wine classic, rounds out the series on August 20 at McCall Vineyard and Ranch, Cutchogue. Celebs know where it's at—the East End!

REAL ESTATE*GO INSIDE

Some of the hottest houses swapped!

Celeb-owned Homes Go on the Market

BY OLIVER PETERSON

The world of Hamptons real estate is never dull, especially when local celebrities get in on the action! Some of our most well known residents are buying and selling this summer. Read on to see who's staying on the East End, who's upgrading, and who's leaving.

Christie Brinkley Lists*Tower Hill Estate for $29.5 Million

Christie Brinkley has just listed her exquisite Bridgehampton mansion, Tower Hill, for $29.5 million with Enzo Morabito of Douglas Elliman Real Estate. She's lived in the home for the last 18 years.

Her 20-acre estate, on the market for the second time since she's owned it, features three separate home lots. The 3-story, 4-bedroom, 5-bath main house, first built in 1891, sits on 475 tons of rock, is surrounded by enchanting trees and shrubbery, and has a gated entrance. The home features three stone fireplaces and desert tan shingles neatly lining the exterior, which features various windows that allow a bountiful supply of light into an oversized kitchen and double-height great room. The main house also includes a gym, office, multiple living and family rooms, stone terraces and a 50-foot observation tower offering stunning ocean views from above the roof.

The 4-bedroom, 2.5-bath guesthouse has a greenhouse conservatory (Continued on page 218)

OFFICE COMPLEX IN THE VILLAGE OF SOUTHAMPTON

Unique 1.2 acre property zoned Office District

Unique 1.2 acre property zoned Office District (OD). This property is zoned for the sought after "medical use" as well as general office use. Proximity to the village business district and Southampton Hospital make this a high demand location for owner/users and tenants.

Existing building includes a ground floor and second floor totaling 3650 square feet plus a full basement. There are 27 existing parking spaces and room for an additional 28 parking spaces.

Site allows a second structure of approximately 2100 square feet pending site plan and health department approval. A rare development and expansion opportunity in the village of Southampton.

Low taxes and attractive cap rate. Web #2424709

Chelsea Enclave - 177 Ninth Ave, 5H | Chelsea, NY | Condo | $4,395,000

This classic, prewar inspired 2-bedroom, 2.5-bath home features 10-ft, 6-inch height ceilings, and wraps the Northeast corner of the historical General Theological Seminary campus which dates back to the 1800s. The addition of the complex of homes built in 2008 called the Enclave, was inspired by the existing 19th century architecture of the seminary buildings and chapel. These homes are built for modern luxury living and offer a one of a kind experience of tranquility in the heart of Manhattan and on arguably one of the most beautiful blocks in the entire City. Web #2410994
